TO ADVERTISERS.

MR. MERCHANT, the public has been harangued too long. Its ears are ringing. Its eyes are weary with following wild-sealers, its credit is stretched too far. Reader turn with relief to my low-voiced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the business swings toward the more solid ones. Let me show you the "difference" in advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zollner, care of Kingston Freeman.

VILLA'S FORCES SURPRISE FEDERALS

Movement Against Saltillo Begun in Earnest Under Personal Direction of General Villa—Wild Rejoicing Over Fall of Tampico.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Paredon, Mexico, Via El Paso, Texas, May 16.—Fighting has begun in the Constitutional campaign against Saltillo. The first clash has been won by General Villa's troops.

A Federal force of 500 men was surprised by a body of Constitutionalists near Reata Junction, north of Paredon, and routed with great slaughter. The Huerta troops left fifty dead on the field when they fled. The Federalists are said to have been the garrison which evacuate Monclova.

There is wild rejoicing here over the fall of Tampico, news of which has just been received. Constitutional officers declare that now they will have an opportunity to get all the ammunition that they need for the campaign for Mexico City.

The great Constitutional army is now in motion. Train load after train load of troops, ammunition and artillery is being sent out of this great concentration camp.

General Villa is giving his personal attention to the transportation of troops, supplies, hospital and water trains and small arms ammunition while General Felipe Angeles devotes his time to the shipment of his artillery.

He will have 60 guns with which to bombard Saltillo and a plentiful supply of ammunition. Forty-three machine guns and ammunition have been sent with the infantry.

It is believed the trains will be able to reach Ramos and Arizpe, nine miles north of Saltillo without interruption.

For several days past large bodies of troops have been sent to the front to protect the railway repair gangs from foraging parties which had been making sorties from the Federal garrison.

Three supply trains of 50 cars each laden with food and other supplies reached Paredon from Torreon last night and were later rushed to the front, following the troop trains. Two banking corps of 2,000 men each are marching overland from Hipolito, spread over a front of nearly 20 miles driving everything before them toward Saltillo. Many small bands of Federalists who have surrendered to them voluntarily and asked to be allowed to swear allegiance to the Constitutional flag have been taken into the rebel ranks.

It is expected that the investment of Saltillo will be complete by night. General Villa, following his usual custom, will attack the city under cover of darkness.

Including a portion of the Constitutional forces under command of General Pablo Gonzales hurried here from Tampico, General Villa has no less than 30,000 men in his attacking force. But all of these men are not on the firing line. Some are detailed to scout duty and others are employed in guarding the railroads and supplies. Several thousand Constitutionalists are being held in reserve as a rear guard to prevent an attack by Federalists or a flank movement.

It is believed that the Federal force in Saltillo has been greatly strengthened by conscripts, but the fighting ability of these "soldiers" is doubted.

In addition to the conscripts there are a number of citizen volunteers in the Federal ranks as General Huerta ordered the Federal officers in Saltillo to spread the word that the Constitutional army is in reality, an army of 20,000 American soldiers, who are fighting with the Constitutionalists. It is said that Huerta caused the report to be published in Saltillo that Villa has been commissioned a colonel in the United States army.

Manuel Orivas, who reached Paredon from Mexico City by way of Zacatecas and Torreon, having escaped through the Federal lines in disguise, says that in all the cities dominated by Federalists every effort is being made by the Huertistas to create the impression that Mexico has already been invaded by the Americans and that Torreon, which was alleged to have been captured by Americans, is being used as a base for operations for American operations against Mexico City. Rivas says that the Huerta press is filled with stories along this line and that hundreds of salaried orators are traveling up and down those portions of Mexico still under Huerta's control, firing the spirit of Mexican nationalism with passionate appeals.

"Shall Mexico be the victim of American rapacity?" is the phrase upon which these orators dwell. Orivas states that in Guadalajara, Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, Irapuato and other large cities, peasants, ranch owners, mechanics, miners, clerks and professional men without any military training are forming regiments which are being armed with all sorts of weapons and made ready to repel the hated Gringos.

Warning has been sent to non-combatants in Saltillo, but it is feared that the commander of the Huertista army will refuse to allow a bodied men to pass from the city.

Fear of killing these inoffensive peasants may prolong the battle of Saltillo and cause the concentration of rebel artillery fire upon the artillery of the defenders rather than on the town itself.

The army of attack is probably the best disciplined in the republic and certainly it is the best equipped. "Bridger" Webber, former gambling house keeper, who, in testifying against Charles Becker at the latter's second trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, corroborated the testimony of Jack Rose that Becker requested Webber to give $1,000 to Rose to pay to the gunmen who had "croaked" Rosenthal.

TUXPAN CAPTURED BY REBEL FORCES

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 16.—Tuxpan has been occupied by rebel forces under General Aguilar and General Luz Blanco, according to dispatches to the state department today from Consul Canada at Vera Cruz.

The city fell into the hands of the rebel troops Thursday afternoon after a desperate hand to hand fighting between the opposing forces. News of the fall of this important oil center was brought to Consul Canada by a party of Spaniards who left Tuxpan in a small steam launch, narrowly escaping capture by the rebels. They were on their way to Vera Cruz a whole day and night, experiencing many hardships.

Consul Miller at Tampico reported to the state department that General Pablo Gonzales, of the Constitutional forces, has issued a proclamation assuring foreigners of protection in the city and outlying districts. The proclamation invites all foreigners to return and oil men to resume their business. Consul Miller reports that the city is quiet and that normal conditions are being restored.

A report from Consul Ronney by wireless from the Morro Castle, en route to Galveston, said that up to May 1, no Americans had been killed in the Saltillo district where he was assigned. The railroads he reports throughout that section were paralyzed from a lack of fuel. The American consulate has been left in charge of the British vice consul.

NO KEYS FOR HINKLEY.

Sheriff Doyle is Neither a Knave Nor a Fool.

The attempt of a Democratic clique to cast reflections upon the administration of the county jail by Sheriff Doyle, a prominent Ulster county Democrat, by stating that "Under Sheriff Doyle, would trust Hinkley with the keys to the jail" caused considerable amusement today about town.

Sheriff Doyle has asked The Freeman to repudiate the alleged statement and to state that Darwin Hinkley is safely kept under lock and key in a cell in the county jail and will remain there until his case is settled one way or the other by the grand jury which meets May 25.

As stated in Friday's Freeman Hinkley the supposed author of the dynamite outrage on Tuesday morning walked to the court house early Friday morning and surrendered himself to Sheriff Doyle, stating that he had heard he was wanted. Hinkley will not be trusted with the keys to the county jail nor will any other prisoner.

Home Rule Volunteers Arm.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, May 16.—A heavy consignment of rifles and ammunition for use by the Irish Nationalists was reported today to have been landed at Connemara. These war munitions are believed to have been purchased in the United States and are intended for the Home Rule volunteers who are arming to oppose the Ulster Orangemen. Customs officers boarded a number of ships at Ballina and other ports on the west coast and searched them but found no guns.

Indiana Poet at Home. Indianapolis, Ind., May 15.—James Whitcomb Riley, the Indiana poet, arrived home from Florida today where he had been for six months. Although he is crippled with rheumatism he was as cheerful as ever and chatted with his friends. "I'm just as good as ever," he declared "excepting for this stiffness."

GUNMAN'S WIDOW CONFIRMS PLOT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 16.—Today's lull in the trial of ex-Lieut. Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal gave both sides an opportunity to strengthen their campaigns of attack and defense for next week, which is expected to determine the fate of the former police official.

Close observers of the trial declared today that the state had built up a stronger case against the defendant than it had at the first trial and gave the greatest credit for this fact to the testimony of Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg yesterday afternoon. The young widow of "Lefty Louie," one of the gunmen executed for the murder of Rosenthal, furnished a corroborative of the "murder plot" that District Attorney Whitman had been unable to obtain at the first trial.

It is believed that her testimony will have great weight with the jury because of the fact that she testified to strengthen the case of the district attorney who sent her husband to the electric chair.

Her short and simple story, in which she declared that she heard "Bald Jack" Rose tell her husband that Rosenthal must be killed to "fix it" with Becker, was as important, or more so than the testimony given by Rose, Harry Vallon and "Bridgie" Webber. Though Martin T. Manton, attorney for the defense, declared today that he did not believe Mrs. Rosenberg had impressed the jury.

District Attorney Whitman hopes to complete his case on Monday. He will introduce new and important witnesses that day and according to present indications the defense will open on Tuesday. Becker probably will be one of the first witnesses called by Manton. Mrs. Becker is also expected to testify.

If the defense finishes with its witnesses by Thursday, the case probably will go to the jury a week from today.

MILITIA WORKED FOR MINE OWNERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., May 16.—The most startling development since the legislature was convened in special session was the piling on the senate calendar of a complete roster of Troop A and Company B of the Colorado National Guards, the members of which are charged with killing two women and 11 children at the Ludlow tent colony.

The roster shows that of the 130 men composing Troop A, 122 of them were on the pay roll of the coal corporations and had been for years and that of the 38 men in Company B, four were coal company employees. According to the figures 168 men in uniform fired into the tent colonies at Ludlow. Of this number, it was alleged 126 were employees of coal corporations but were the uniform of the state militia and under orders of Major Patrick J. Hamrock, who with 39 others is now on trial before a military commission; and only 42 were legitimate militiamen.

The legislature has adopted a joint resolution to adjourn finally at noon today, but the belief was expressed this morning that the anti-administration faction, could, through sheer public sentiment, follow the publication of the report of Adjutant General Chase, force a reconsideration of the resolution and compel the administration forces to order a complete investigation of the coal strike before adjournment sine die was taken.

The court martial was resumed at Golden today. It was expected that today's developments would be more sensational than yesterday when Sergeant Patrick M. Cullom frankly admitted that the militia on the day preceding the Ludlow battle carefully planned the attack on the tent colony.

Mexican Gunboats Arrive.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 16.—The Mexican gunboats Zaragoza and Bravo with the tug Tampico arrived at Puerto Mexico today. Rear Admiral Badger reported to the navy department that the gunboats are surrounded by several smaller ships of Badger's fleet, which will keep a close watch on them. The captains of the gunboats took with them all of the mail and express matter sent to Tampico, the report states. Among the packages confiscated were some naval officers' campaign suits of white duck. Mail matter of a sentimental character was dumped into the sea.

Where Everybody is Good.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Canajoharie, N. Y., May 16.—A special village election held here last night for the purpose of submitting to the tax-payers the proposition to appropriate funds for the employment of a village policeman resulted in the defeat of the proposed, 45 voting yes and 110 no. Those against the proposition argued that the village has absolutely no need for a policeman's services as all of the several hundred inhabitants are law abiding.

Ellenville Fair Date.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, May 16.—The date of the fair of the Ulster Agricultural Society has been fixed by the state department of agriculture from August 11 to 14 at Ellenville.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 16.—An absence of demand caused recessions throughout the list at the opening of the stock market today, but at the end of half an hour a better tone prevailed and many issues had made partial or complete recoveries. U. S. Steel Common was about the most active feature at the opening, declining 1/4. Within a few minutes, however, its net decline was 1/2. The international shares followed their London lead. Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and Reading each lost 1/4. Some of the room traders who had taken part in the buying movement on Thursday and Friday found when they tried to realize profits that there was no demand. St. Paul was the strongest in the railroad group, gaining 1/4 and selling at par 1/2. Guggenheim exploration advanced 1/4, this issue having been particularly active of late. Loss of 1/4 were sustained during the first few minutes by Southern Pacific, Ray Consolidated Copper and China Consolidated Copper. Canadian Pacific began 1/4 higher at 1 3/4, but within a few minutes shaded. Missouri Pacific began 1/4 lower, but soon rallied, recovered and scored a net gain. The curb was irregular. Americans in London were quiet.

TO ADVERTISERS.

MR. MEHLANT, the public has been harassed too long. His eyes are landing. He gets weary with following wild geese of inexperienced, amateur advertisers. His intelligence has been insulted too often, its credulity stretched too far. Readers turn with relief to his low-priced, moderate, non-exaggerated advertisements, booklets, circulars, business letters, etc., because they appeal to reason. The public weighs words carefully, and the balance swings toward the more solid side. Let me show you the difference. Advertising. Terms reasonable. George M. Zellmer, care of Kingston Freeman.

VILLA'S FORCES SURPRISE FEDERALS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Paredon, Mexico, Via El Paso, Texas, May 16.—Fighting has begun in the Constitutional campaign against Saltillo. The first clash has been won by General Villa's troops. A Federal force of 500 men was surprised by a body of Constitutional scouts near Reata Junction, north of Paredon, and routed with great slaughter. The Huerta troops left fifty dead on the field when they fled. The Federalists are said to have been the garrison which evacuate Monclova.

There is wild rejoicing here over the fall of Tampico, news of which has just been received. Constitutionalist officers declare that now they will have an opportunity to get all the ammunition that they need for the campaign for Mexico City.

The great Constitutionalist army is now in motion. Train load after train load of troops, ammunition and artillery is being sent out of this great concentration camp.

General Villa is giving his personal attention to the transportation of troops, supplies, hospital and water trains and small arms ammunition while General Felipe Angeles devotes his time to the shipment of his artillery.

He will have 60 guns with which to bombard Saltillo and a plentiful supply of ammunition. Forty-three machine guns and ammunition have been sent with the infantry.

It is believed the trains will be able to reach Ramos and Arizpe, nine miles north of Saltillo without interruption.

For several days past large bodies of troops have been sent to the front to protect the railway repair gangs from foraging parties which had been making sorties from the Federal garrison.

Three supply trains of 50 cars each laden with food and other supplies reached Paredon from Torreon last night and were later rushed to the front, following the troop trains.

Two flanking corps of 2,000 men each are marching overland from Hipolito, spread over a front of nearly 20 miles driving everything before them toward Saltillo. Many small bands of Federalists who have surrendered to them voluntarily and asked to be allowed to swear allegiance to the Constitutionalist flag were taken into the rebel ranks.

It is expected that the investment of Saltillo will be complete by night and General Villa, following his usual custom, will attack the city under cover of darkness.

Including a portion of the Constitutionalist forces under command of General Pablo Gonzales hurried here from Tampico, General Villa has no less than 30,000 men in his attacking force. But all of these men are not on the firing line. Some are detailed to scout duty and others are employed in guarding the railroads and supplies. Several thousand Constitutionalist are being held in reserve as a rear guard to prevent an attack by Federalists or a flank movement.

It is believed that the Federal force in Saltillo has been greatly strengthened by conscripts, but the fighting ability of these "soldiers" is doubted.

In addition to the conscripts there are a number of citizen volunteers in the Federal ranks as General Huerta ordered the Federal officers in Saltillo to spread the word that the Constitutionalist army is in reality, an army of 20,000 American soldiers, who are fighting with the Constitutionalist.

It is said that Huerta caused the report to be published in Saltillo that Villa has been commissioned a colonel in the United States army.

Manuel Orivas, who reached Paredon from Mexico City by way of Zacatecas and Torreon, having escaped through the Federal lines in disguise, says that in all the cities dominated by Federalists every effort is being made by the Huertistas to create the impression that Mexico has already been invaded by the Americans and that Torreon, which was alleged to have been captured by Americans is being used as a base of operations for American operations against Mexico City. Orivas says that the Huerta press is filled with stories along this line and that hundreds of salaried orators are traveling up and down those portions of Mexico still under Huerta's control, firing the spirit of Mexican nationalism with passionate appeals.

"Shall Mexico be the victim of American rapacity?" is the phrase upon which these orators dwell.

Orivas states that in Guadalajara, Guanajuato, San Luis Potosi, Irapuato and other large cities, peasants, ranch owners, mechanics, miners, clerks and professional men without any military training are forming regiments which are being armed with all sorts of weapons and made ready to repel the hated Gringos.

Warning has been sent to non-combatants in Saltillo, but it is feared that the commander of the Huertista army will refuse to allow able bodied men to pass from the city.

Fear of killing these inoffensive peasants may prolong the battle of Saltillo and cause the concentration of rebel artillery fire upon the artillery of the defenders rather than on the town itself.

The army of attack is probably the best disciplined in the republic and certainly it is the best equipped. Knowing the value of his men of keeping them in good shape and good spirits, General Villa not only laid in big stores of food and clothing but has even provided moving picture shows and other amusements for their entertainment in camp.

Since the fall of Torreon, sixteen bands have been organized in the rebel ranks and concerts and dances have been given nearly every night.

"Bridge" Webber, former gambling house keeper, who, in testifying against Charles Becker at the latter's second trial for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, corroborated the testimony of Jack Rose that Becker requested Webber to give $1,000 to Rose to pay to the gunmen who had "crooked" Rosenthal.

GUNMAN'S WIDOW CONFIRMS PLOT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 16.—Today's lull in the trial of ex-Lieut. Charles Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal gave both sides an opportunity to strengthen their campaigns of attack and defense for next week, which is expected to determine the fate of the former police official.

Close observers of the trial declared today that the state had built up a stronger case against the defendant than it had at the first trial and gave the greatest credit for this fact to the testimony of Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg yesterday afternoon. The young widow of "Lefty Louie," one of the gunmen executed for the murder of Rosenthal, furnished a corroboration of the "murder plot" that District Attorney Whitman had been unable to obtain at the first trial.

It is believed that her testimony will have great weight with the jury because of the fact that she testified to strengthen the case of the district attorney who sent her husband to the electric chair.

Her short and simple story, in which she declared that she heard "Bald Jack" Rose tell her husband that Rosenthal must be killed to "fix it" with Becker, was as important, or more so than the testimony given by Rose, Harry Vallon and "Bridge" Webber, though Martin T. Manton, attorney for the defense, declared today that he did not believe Mrs. Rosenberg had impressed the jury.

District Attorney Whitman hopes to complete his case on Monday. He will introduce new and important witnesses that day and according to present indications the defense will open on Tuesday. Becker probably will be one of the first witnesses called by Manton. Mrs. Becker is also expected to testify.

If the defense finishes with its witnesses by Thursday, the case probably will go to the jury a week from today.

MILITIA WORKED FOR MINE OWNERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Denver, Colo., May 16.—The most startling development since the legislature was convened in special session was the pricing on the senate calendar of a complete roster of Troop A and Company B of the Colorado National Guards, the members of which are charged with killing two women and 17 children at the Ludlow tent colony.

The roster shows that of the 130 men composing Troop A, 122 of them were on the pay roll of the coal corporations and had been for years and that of the 38 men in Company B, four were coal company employees. According to the figures 168 men in uniform fired into the tent colonies at Ludlow. Of this number, it was alleged 126 were employees of coal corporations but wore the uniform of the state militia and under orders of Major Patrick J. Hamrock, who with 39 others, is now on trial before a military commission; and only 42 were legitimate militiamen.

The legislature has adopted a joint resolution to adjourn finally at noon today, but the belief was expressed this morning that the anti-administration faction, could, through sheer public sentiment, follow the publication of the report of Adjutant General Chase, force a reconsideration of the resolution and compel the administration forces to order a complete investigation of the coal strike before adjournment sine die was taken.

The court martial was resumed at Golden today. It was expected that today's developments would be more sensational than yesterday when Sergeant Patrick M. Cullom frankly admitted that the militia on the day preceding the Ludlow battle carefully planned the attack on the tent colony.

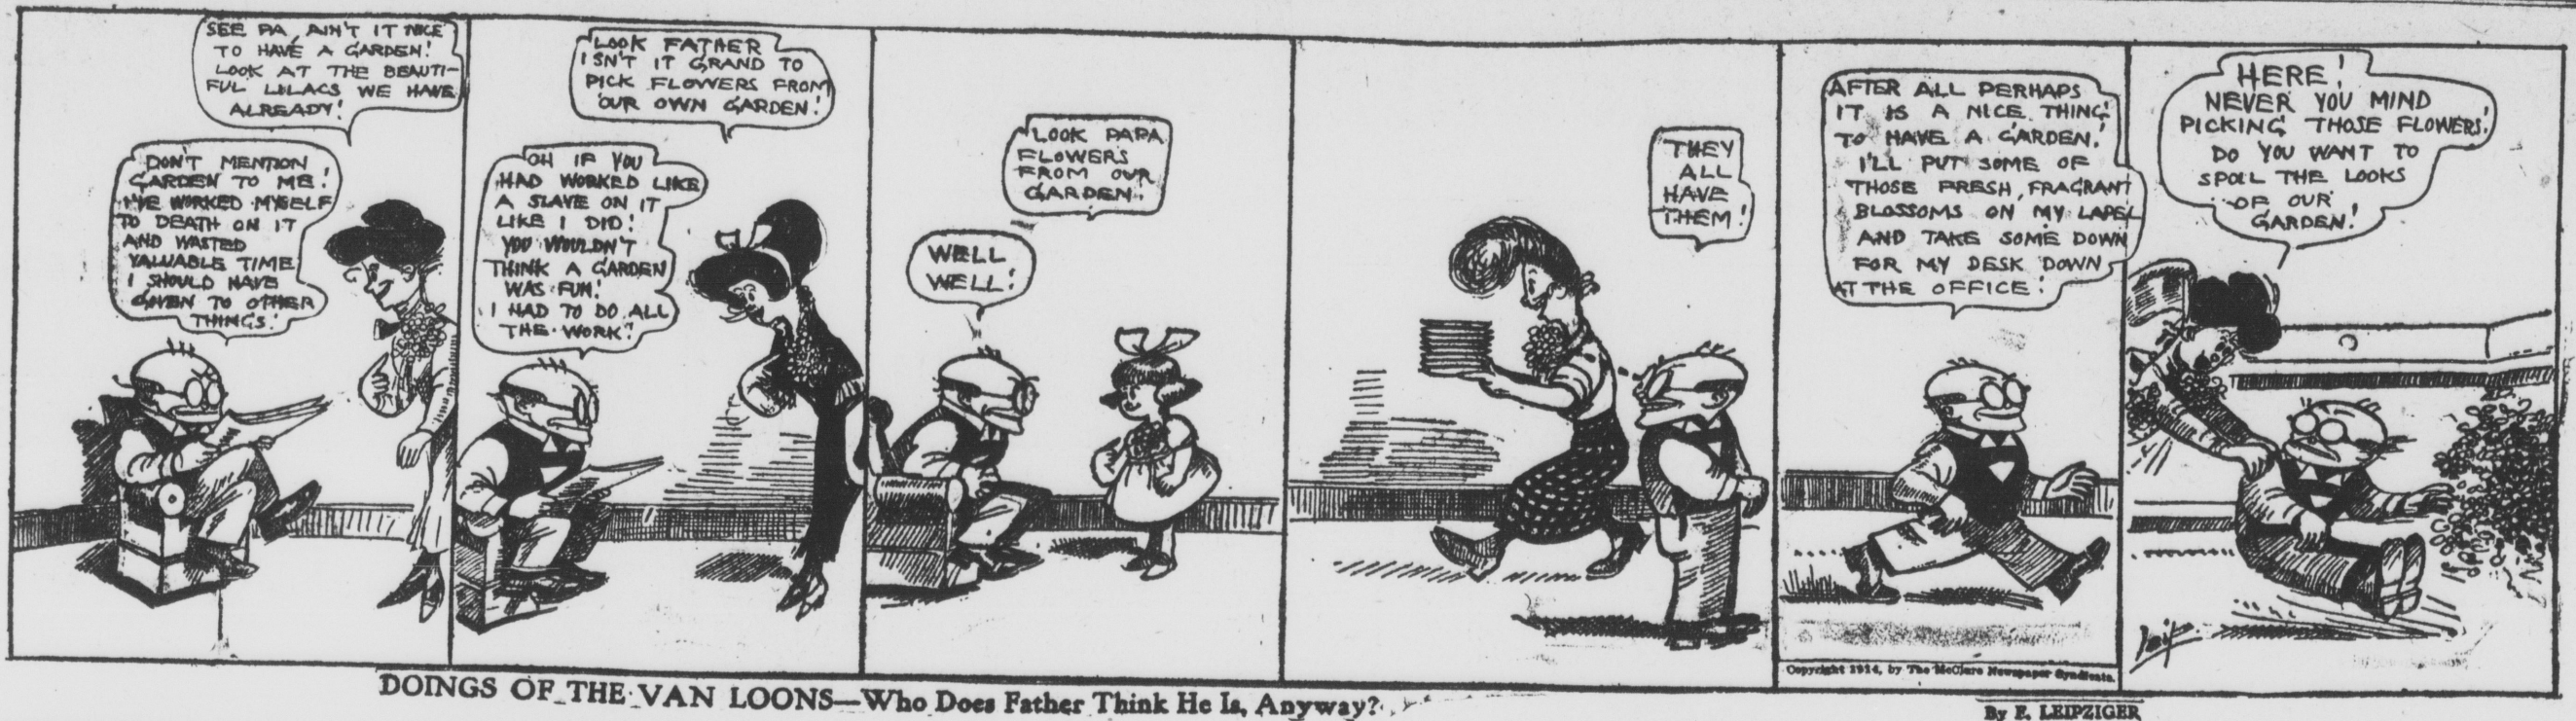

The attempt of a Democratic clique to cast reflections upon the administration of the county jail by Sheriff Doyle, a prominent Ulster county Democrat, by stating that "Under Sheriff Doyle would trust Hinkley with the keys to the jail" caused considerable amusement today about town.

Sheriff Doyle has asked The Freeman to repudiate the alleged statement and to state that Darwin Hinkley is safely kept under lock and key in a cell in the county jail and will remain there until his case is settled one way or the other by the grand jury which meets May 25.

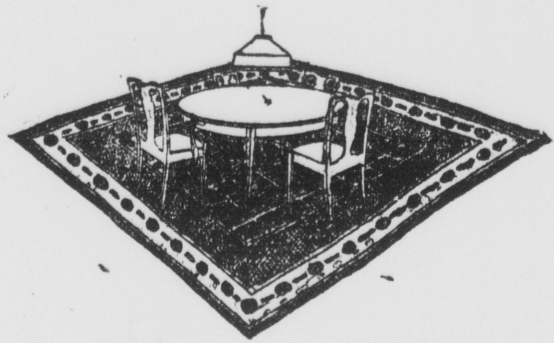

As stated in Friday's Freeman Hinkley the supposed author of the dynamite outrage on Tuesday morning walked to the court house early Friday morning and surrendered himself to Sheriff Doyle, stating that he had heard he was wanted. Hinkley will not be trusted with the keys to the county jail nor will any other prisoner.

Home Rule Volunteers Arm. By Telegraph to The Freeman. Dublin, May 16.—A heavy consignment of rifles and ammunition, for use by the Irish Nationalists was reported today to have been landed at Conemara. These war munitions are believed to have been purchased in the United States and are intended for the Home Rule volunteers who are arming to oppose the Ulster Orangemen. Customs officers boarded a number of ships at Ballina and other ports on the west coast and searched them but found no guns.

accurately, for they combine every known feature of Wilton excellence together with certain entirely new principles that make possible the most exquisite patterns and the most delicate colorings yet with a remarkable durability.

The pile of Hardwick Wiltons is closer than any other Wilton made, and they will always lie flat and smooth, never wrinkling, creeping or curling at the edges.

The designs include faithful reproductions of the gems of the Orient, such as Saruks, Kermanshahs, Sennas and others. And the forty or more sizes make it possible to fit any room, no matter what its size or shape may be.

The prices of Hardwick Wilton Rugs are most reasonable, especially when the quality is considered.

It would give us great pleasure to show them to you.

Hardwick Wilton Rugs

accurately, for they combine every known feature of Wilton excellence together with certain entirely new principles that make possible the most exquisite patterns and the most delicate colorings yet with a remarkable durability.

The pile of Hardwick Wiltons is closer than any other Wilton made, and they will always lie flat and smooth, never wrinkling, creeping or curling at the edges.

The designs include faithful reproductions of the gems of the Orient, such as Saruks, Kermanshahs, Sennas and others. And the forty or more sizes make it possible to fit any room, no matter what its size or shape may be.

The prices of Hardwick Wilton Rugs are most reasonable, especially when the quality is considered.

It would give us great pleasure to show them to you.

PIRATES END LONG HUNT FOR A PLAYER

Ed Konetchy, Pittsburgh's First Sacker.

The biggest baseball deal of the season, which landed Ed Konetchy with the Pittsburgh Pirates, may close the longest hunt for a player on record.

Pittsburgh has been searching nine years for a first baseman to fill Kitty Bransfield's shoes. Koney will now tackle the job.

Since Bransfield was traded, 15 men have been used on first by the Pirates. None gave the satisfaction Bransfield was giving before being traded to Philadelphia. Kitty played good ball for several years after the deal.

Konetchy became a Pirate December 12, last. He led the National league first sacker in fielding last year and batted .276.

No one expects the Pittsburgh hoodo to impair Konetchy's usefulness. Bransfield was traded to Philadelphia by the Pirates December 14, 1904. The Pirates gave McCormick, Krueger and Bransfield for Del Howard.

Just nine years, lacking two days, after the historic deal, the Pirates made the big dicker with St. Louis for big Ed Konetchy.

Here are the men Pittsburgh has used in trying to plug the hole at first since Bransfield was discarded:

HOW HUGGINS WON HIS JOB

Miller Huggins, the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, well remembers the first game he played in the National league. It was back in 1902 with the Cincinnati Reds, when Joe Kelley was the manager. Hug called upon President Herrmann, signed his contract and then was introduced to Joe Kelley.

There was scorn from Kelley, who informed Herrmann that Huggins was entirely too small to ever make good in the big league. And Hug had to sit on the bench until he got his opening to break in. Tom Daly then was the Reds' second sacker, and he injured his leg one day. So Hug was elected to play second the next day.

The first time up runners were on second and third when Huggins lined the ball down the left-field line for two sacks, scoring the two runs. Next time up one was on first and

BALL PLAYERS' STATUES.

Immortalization of modern sports to replace the time-worn Greek discus thrower and Olympian champion of centuries past is the object of Miss Anna Pfenniger, Cleveland sculptress, who recently put the finishing touches on a marble bust of Johnny Kilbane, champion feather-weight pugilist. She will seek to have the statue exhibited at the Panama exposition.

In the meantime she will extend her efforts to a series of baseball statues showing "Home Run" Baker, "Ty" Cobb, Walter Johnson and other diamond stars who she believes should have a niche in the sculptural halls of the country. She also desires to model Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, who is one of the best all-round athletes ever developed.

"Why keep on copying the heroes of an ancient athletic history when there are more interesting subjects in the modern field of sport?" said Miss Pfenniger. "Athletes, ball players, prize fighters, living men of today, are more appreciated as models for sculpture by the general run of people than the so-called classic subjects."

ENGLISH VERSION OF GAME

Diagnosis Printed in the London Daily Sketch Intended for Those Wishing to Learn.

May we offer to those persons who do not understand baseball a diagnosis of the game printed in the London Daily Sketch? It is meant for those who wish quickly to learn all about the pastime, without reading a guide. Here it is:

Scoring is by runs. The batsman strikes a ball thrown by the pitcher, and one run is gained when he has got the "bases" (corners) and back home again. If the batsman misses three strikes (good deliveries) he is out, but if the pitcher throws four balls that are not "good," the batsman is allowed to go to the first base (a quarter way round).

After hitting the ball the batsman must get to the first base before the ball is returned to the fielder there.

Whatever bases he reaches he remains there till the next batsman makes a chance of getting a run again.

A batsman can get out by being caught, by stepping out of his ground when batting, and in many other ways.

Though there are nine men on a side the inning is over when three are out.

Each side generally plays nine innings.

Tribute to Keating.

Manager Chance comes out with a great tribute to Ray Keating. The Yankee leader says he is better than Ed Walsh.

Manager Miller Huggins.

third when Huggins bunted down first base line. The pitcher grabbed the ball and shot it past the first baseman. Two runs scored and Huggins reached third.

He duplicated this play his third time up. Runners on first and second and again he bunted, with the same result, a wild throw from the pitcher and two more runs.

In the clubhouse after the game Huggins said to Kelley: "I don't know if you favor that kind of baseball, Mr. Kelley, and if you don't just tell me what to do. I want to learn, you know."

"Say, kid," responded Kelley, "keep that stuff up, and they can bring me eight other fellows just as small as you." And from then on Huggins was the regular second sacker until traded to the Cardinals.

Overall May Become a Catcher. Orvie Overall, the ex-Cub pitcher, may try his hand as a catcher this year with a Pacific Coast league team.

Pretty New Parasols

Out-of-door functions are hardly complete without Milady and her Parasol. They are the bright spots that give life and color to the occasion. As pretty an array of new Parasols as may be seen anywhere are now on display here. The assortment is large, and the colorings and patterns are most attractive. There are long plain handles, carved handles and etched styles. The coverings are of taffeta, in plain, solid colors, with beautiful Dresden borders. For children we show some very attractive new styles.

PIRATES END LONG HUNT FOR A PLAYER

Ed Konetchy, Pittsburgh's First Sacker.

The biggest baseball deal of the season, which landed Ed Konetchy with the Pittsburgh Pirates, may close the longest hunt for a player on record.

Pittsburgh has been searching nine years for a first baseman to fill Kitty Bransfield's shoes. Koney will now tackle the job.

Since Bransfield was traded, 15 men have been used on first by the Pirates. None gave the satisfaction Bransfield was giving before being traded to Philadelphia. Kitty played good ball for several years after the deal.

Konetchy became a Pirate December 12, last. He led the National league first sackers in fielding last year and batted .276.

No one expects the Pittsburgh hoodoo to impair Konetchy's usefulness.

Bransfield was traded to Philadelphia by the Pirates December 14, 1904. The Pirates gave McCormick, Krueger and Bransfield for Del Howard.

Just nine years, lacking two days, after the historic deal, the Pirates made the big dicker with St. Louis for big Ed Konetchy.

Here are the men Pittsburgh has used in trying to plug the hole at first since Bransfield was discarded:

HOW HUGGINS WON HIS JOB

Miller Huggins, the scrappy little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, well remembers the first game he played in the National league. It was back in 1902 with the Cincinnati Reds, when Joe Kelley was the manager. Hug called upon President Herrmann, signed his contract and then was introduced to Joe Kelley.

There was scorn from Kelley, who informed Herrmann that Huggins was entirely too small to ever make good in the big league. And Hug had to sit on the bench until he got his opening to break in. Tom Daly then was the Reds' second sacker, and he injured his leg one day. So Hug was elected to play second the next day.

The first time up runners were on second and third when Huggins lined the ball down the left-field line for two sacks, scoring the two runs. Next time up one was on first and

BECAUSE HE LOVES HIS WIFE, HE GAVE HER TO HIS FRIEND TO MAKE HER HAPPY.

(Mrs. Annie Wier Korn.)

New York, May 15.—Because he loved his wife and wanted to make her the happy woman she deserved to be, George W. Korn, a wealthy real estate operator and politician, admits he allowed his wife to divorce him so that she could become the wife of his friend, J. M. Thorne. "My love for my wife was too great for me to stand in the way of her happiness," said Korn. She is a charming woman and I feel certain that my sacrifice will increase her happiness. We are the very best of friends and we have mutually agreed that our little son, who is six years old, is to spend half of his time with me and half of his time with the future Mrs. Thorne. Thorne has my heartiest congratulations. He has the best wife in the world, and I am just as happy tonight as he is, because I know the woman I love is happy."

ENGLISH VERSION OF GAME

Diagnosis Printed in the London Daily Sketch Intended for Those Wishing to Learn.

May we offer to those persons who do not understand baseball a diagnosis of the game printed in the London Daily Sketch? It is meant for those who wish quickly to learn all about the pastime, without reading a guide. Here it is:

Scoring is by runs. The batsman strikes a ball thrown by the pitcher, and one run is gained when he has got the "bases" (corners) and back home again. If the batsman misses three strikes (good deliveries) he is out, but if the pitcher throws four balls that are not "good," the batsman is allowed to go to the first base (a quarter way round).

After hitting the ball the batsman must get to the first base before the ball is returned to the fielder there.

Whatever bases he reaches he remains there till the next batsman makes a chance of getting a run again.

A batsman can get out by being caught, by stepping out of his ground when batting, and in many other ways.

Though there are nine men on a side the inning is over when three are out.

Each side generally plays nine innings.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 16, 1914.

The cause of Villa's delay in marching on to Mexico City is that he lacks sufficient ammunition to take the town. He cannot get any from the United States, on any terms, and the European manufacturers demand cash in advance, which he cannot pay for the very good reason that he has no ready money. The fact that the Mexicans are unable to manufacture ammunition for themselves is an interesting commentary upon their national inefficiency. The reason for this is that the laboring classes of the country are practically slaves, and slavery breeds no mechanics. Before the war there were no manufacturing in our Southern States, and the people there had to buy everything except farm produce outside their borders. What Mexico needs is capable citizens, but she cannot hope to develop them under the rule of any one of the bandit chiefs now fighting for the mastery.

A Boston merchant has been getting a lot of free advertising by exhibiting a dollar bill in his window with a sign that it had been marked down to 90 cents. Hundreds of people noticed the bargain, but it was 22 hours before anybody took advantage of it, and the joker is cackling with delight. Just what he expected or thinks he has proved we don't know. It seems to us that any customer worth having would scorn to accept a gift of ten cents, and we venture to say that the individual who finally got the dime is an undesirable citizen, from the standpoint of a merchant or of any one else. Moreover, we do not believe that this joking storekeeper will benefit from his advertisement. The purchasing public is a rather serious body and does not relish being "joshed" when it is out with money to spend. Advertising rightly managed will make anybody rich, but when foolishly managed it is a through ticket to the alms house.

Advocates of euthanasia for hopeless sufferers have had their enthusiasm somewhat dampened by an incident in Philadelphia in which one Mrs. Squier is the chief figure. About a year and a half ago this lady made a piteous statement through the newspapers to the effect that she was undergoing excruciating torture from an intestinal tumor which the surgeons all agreed could not be removed or cured. She remarked upon the fact that when animals are so afflicted they are mercifully put out of their misery and pleaded that she should be afforded relief in the same way. It now appears that later on another surgeon did find a way to operate successfully and one day this week Mrs. Squier was pronounced absolutely cured. She has the prospect of many more years of active life and will be able to care for her husband, who is going blind. In the light of events it is seen that the carrying out of her wish would have been a horrible crime. There is no sensible argument against euthanasia when a patient is in agony and is absolutely certain to die, but such certainties are extremely rare. Hardly any case is utterly hopeless, and we frequently hear of the recovery of persons who have been abandoned by physicians.

The fundamental question whether the laws of this free country shall apply to certain classes of the population and not to others will soon be pressed upon the voters for decision. The executive committee of the American Federation of Labor has adopted a resolution demanding that the law be amended so as to "definitely and clearly exempt the organizations of laborers and producers from the civil, as well as the criminal, sections of the Sherman anti-trust law, and by so doing redeem the pledges of the Democratic party to the people." It is understood that this action is to be followed up by political campaigns, and that it will be represented to congressmen that if they do not obey the orders of the Gompers crowd they will find the votes of all farmers and laboring men arrayed against them in the next election. The fact that the Democratic party put this program in its platform merely for the purpose of catching votes makes no difference. From the standpoint of professional laborers and farmers the Republicans are in a better situation than the Democrats, because they made no promises regarding the handling of this issue. A good many congressmen are shaking in their shoes, but their terror is unjustified. The farmer vote and the labor vote cannot be delivered by or to anybody. The vast majority of men in both these walks of life believe that laws should not be respecters of persons or classes, and that whatever is a crime for one man should always be a crime for another. If this were not so, our free institutions would shortly be destroyed in a tremendous catastrophe.

A LITTLE INCIDENT.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Kansas City, Mo., was planning to extend one of its boulevards, and in order to make way for the stately road and its beautiful trees, it was auctioning off a group of houses, some of them just foolish little shacks, but homes to the occupants. A picturesque lot of men and women had gathered on the hillside, some to listen to the bidding some to take an active part.

The city did not value them very highly, and when a bidder came along offering a modest price the auctioneer just called for higher bids, and if none was forthcoming, the bidder was awarded the house.

At last a crazy little shack on the hillside was up for an offer, and when the auctioneer called out "how much," an answer floated back from the edge of the crowd—"$3.50" was the word. That was a mere song, even on a day of the mildest bidding, and the good natured crowd was disposed to laugh. But there was a queer little quaver in the voice, and it prompted one man to look around at the bidder. He was prepared to raise it to $25, but he paused when he glanced at the anxious face of the bidder.

He saw a woman, white of hair and with face well furrowed by the deep marks of care. She apprehensively peered about among the crowd, half fearing, half expecting her bid to be raised. But the man, who had shown the auctioneer his intention, lacked the heart and the will to go on, after he had seen his competitor. The auctioneer turned to him, questioning, but the man emphatically shook his head and said, "No, I don't want it." And somehow his sentiment crept through the crowd, and not one of them wanted it.

Three times the auctioneer called for higher bids, and as often there was silence. And at last the hammer dropped, and the word "sold" rang out.

The old woman? She is a widow and had been living all alone in that little shack on the hillside. She made $3.50 to invest in a home, and not another cent more. They called her a "squatter" but her wrinkled old face beamed, so the story is told, as she handed the auctioneer the little wad of money that stood for her home. And the crowd contentedly looked on.

The man? At this distance nobody knows who he was, why he wanted the shack or what he thought it was worth, but he put a fine bit of sentiment in the bids of the day. And one believes that all the folk gathered there, amidst the motley array of houses, went away the better, perhaps the happier for the incident; and surely, with a firmer faith in the kindness of mankind.

It is not the sentiment often displayed in big business, or in our own smaller affairs; but as one reads of the little happening on one of Kansas City's hillside where workaday folk had lived and where workaday folk had gathered to buy in the poor little houses, one recalled that it was the sentiment that prevailed very widely in our earlier days. When our country was new and when each felt more or less dependent upon the other and when life had a different meaning, it was the helping hand, rather than the greedy hand, that was most in evidence. Its spirit followed the folk who drifted to the far-away west when the west was a great, untried wilderness. Then, hands must be ready, hearts must be kind and the warm workings of fellowship must ever prevail, else the pioneers never would have pulled through to the end. All were traveling the same hard road and when one was caught by special misfortune, there were others to help make it easier. May be the pioneer life with the pioneer difficulties, brought out much of hardness and roughness, but it developed rareness, too; or perhaps it might be better to say, it simply uncovered it. It is said that the west, with its bigness, its breeziness and its good fellowship, has more than a trace of the fineness left, the fineness that goes out on its way to be kind; and that folk who live on the poorer hillside all over the world are quicker to help each other than the ones who never face adversities together.

But whether it is in the west or the east, in the busy parts of the world or the lowly places, one observes that a "touch of nature" soon travels around and that all who witness the beautiful spirit are inspired to respond, if only in the passive way of letting it work out unhindered, just as the Kansas City gathering remained quiet while the cheap little home went to the wrinkled bidder. And didn't nature mean us all to be simpler and kinder, and bigger thereby?

Deaf Wit.

Thomas A. Edison, said to a reporter apropos of deafness: "Deafness has its advantages. My own deafness enables me to concentrate my thoughts, as I'd never be able to do if distracted by noise and conversation. It helps me to sleep, too. 'Some men, through deafness, actually get a reputation for wit.' 'I know a stupid old fellow, deaf as a post, to whom a lady said, nodding toward a rich banker's daughter: 'Is Miss Bond a pretty girl?' 'The deaf man, misunderstanding the question, answered calmly: 'No, she isn't; but she will be when her father dies.'—New York World.

Onions Are Better.

Mrs. Hetty Green on the 78th birthday anniversary, told a reporter that she had been sick in bed for three months. "An onion was her recipe for colds, coughs, insomnia, nerves and many other maladies. 'An onion,' she added, 'is better food to your pocketbook than a doctor too.'"

"A young lady was studying to be a nurse, and she said one day to a popular surgeon:

"What did you operate on Mr. Social for?"

"For $3,000," the surgeon answered.

"The young nurse smiled.

"No," she said; "I mean what did he have?"

"Three thousand dollars," was the surgeon's reply."—New York Tribune.

Hitting Beverage.

Not even an undertaker possessed more dignity than did Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana when that distinguished Progressive graced the United States senate. But once, according to a story related by James Wickersham, a delegate from Alaska, that dignity suffered a severe jolt. Volney Hoggatt, a famous Alaskan character, had been a witness before Senator Beveridge's committee on territories. He felt that the senator had not treated him with courtesy, and the thought rankled. Some days after, in a hotel lobby, he saw Senator Beveridge surrounded by a stately array of gentlemen, discoursing with customary gravity. "Watch me," said Hoggatt to some Alaskans with him. Marching up to the senator, he slapped Beveridge on the back, grabbed his hand and fairly howled: "Hullo, Pete, you old scoundrel; when did you get in? How are all the boys? Well, well, it is good to see you again, Pete!" "Sir," said Senator Beveridge, "you have made a mistake." "Go on, Pete," said Hoggatt, slapping his back again, "don't pull any of that stuff on me. You're just the same old boy." "Always kidding. Come on and have a drink. Bring your friends. Come on, boys!" "Who do you think I am, sir?" demanded Beveridge, trying to throw off the detaining arm about his shoulder. "Who do I know you are, you mean," laughed Hoggatt. "Why, you old rascal, you are Pete White, the Wichita barber, of course!"—Troy Times.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 16, 1914.

The cause of Villa's delay in marching on to Mexico City is that he lacks sufficient ammunition to take the town. He cannot get any from the United States, on any terms, and the European manufacturers demand cash in advance, which he cannot pay for the very good reason that he has no ready money. The fact that the Mexicans are unable to manufacture ammunition for themselves is an interesting commentary upon their national inefficiency. The reason for this is that the laboring classes of the country are practically slaves, and slavery breeds no mechanics. Before the war there were no manufacturers in our Southern States, and the people there had to buy everything except farm produce outside their borders. What Mexico needs is capable citizens, but she cannot hope to develop them under the rule of any one of the bandit chiefs now fighting for the mastery.

A Boston merchant has been getting a lot of free advertising by exhibiting a dollar bill in his window with a sign that it had been marked down to 90 cents. Hundreds of people noticed the bargain, but it was 22 hours before anybody took advantage of it, and the joker is cackling with delight. Just what he expected or thinks he has proved we don't know. It seems to us that any customer worth having would scorn to accept a gift of ten cents, and we venture to say that the individual who finally got the dime is an undesirable citizen, from the standpoint of a merchant or of any one else. Moreover, we do not believe that this joking storekeeper will benefit from his advertisement. The purchasing public is a rather serious body and does not relish being "joshed" when it is out with money to spend. Advertising might be managed to make anybody rich, but when foolishly managed it is a thorough tick to the alms house.

Advocates of euthanasia for hopeless sufferers have had their enthusiasm somewhat dampened by an incident in Philadelphia in which one Mrs. Squier is the chief figure. About a year and a half ago this lady made a piteous statement through the newspapers to the effect that she was undergoing excruciating torture from an intestinal tumor which the surgeons all agreed could not be removed or cured. She remarked upon the fact that when animals are so afflicted they are mercifully put out of their misery and pleaded that she should be afforded relief in the same way. It now appears that later on another surgeon did find a way to operate successfully and one day this week Mrs. Squier was pronounced absolutely cured. She has the prospect of many more years of active life and will be able to care for her husband, who is going blind. In the light of events it is seen that the carrying out of her wish would have been a horrible crime. There is no sensible argument against euthanasia when a patient is in agony and is absolutely certain to die, but such certainties are extremely rare. Hardly any case is utterly hopeless, and we frequently hear of the recovery of persons who have been abandoned by physicians.

The fundamental question whether the laws of this free country shall apply to certain classes of the population and not to others will soon be pressed upon the voters for decision. The executive committee of the American Federation of Labor has adopted a resolution demanding that the law be amended so as to "definitely and clearly exempt the organizations of laborers and producers from the civil, as well as the criminal, sections of the Sherman anti-trust law, and by so doing redeem the pledges of the Democratic party to the people." It is understood that this action is to be followed up by political campaigns, and that it will be represented to congressmen that if they do not obey the orders of the Gompers crowd they will find the votes of all farmers and laboring men arrayed against them in the next election. The fact that the Democratic party put this program in its platform merely for the purpose of catching votes makes no difference. From the standpoint of professional laborers and farmers the Republicans are in a better situation than the Democrats, because they made no promises regarding the handling of this issue. A good many congressmen are shaking in their shoes, but their terror is unjustified. The farmer vote and the labor vote cannot be delivered by or to anybody. The vast majority of men in both these walks of life believe that laws should not be respecters of persons or classes, and that whatever is a crime for one man should always be a crime for another. If this were not so, our free institutions would shortly be destroyed in a tremendous catastrophe.

A LITTLE INCIDENT.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Kansas City, Mo., was planning to extend one of its boulevards, and in order to make way for the stately road and its beautiful trees, it was auctioning off a group of houses, some of them just foolish little shacks, but homes to the occupants. A picturesque lot of men and women had gathered on the hillside, some to listen to the bidding some to take an active part.

The city did not value them very highly, and when a bidder came along offering a modest price the auctioneer just called for higher bids, and if none was forthcoming, the bidder was awarded the house.

At last a crazy little shack on the hillside was up for an offer, and when the auctioneer called out "how much," an answer floated back from the edge of the crowd—"$3.50" was the word. That was a mere song, even on a day of the mildest bidding, and the good natured crowd was disposed to laugh. But there was a queer little quaver in the voice, and it prompted one man to look around at the bidder. He was prepared to raise it to $25, but he paused when he glanced at the anxious face of the bidder.

He saw a woman, white of hair and with face well furrowed by the deep marks of care. She apprehensively peered about among the crowd, half fearing, half expecting her bid to be raised. But the man, who had shown the auctioneer his intention, lacked the heart and the will to go on, after he had seen his competitor. The auctioneer turned to him, questioning, but the man emphatically shook his head and said, "No, I don't want it." And somehow his sentiment crept through the crowd, and not one of them wanted it.

Three times the auctioneer called for higher bids, and as often there was silence. And at last the hammer dropped, and the word "sold" rang out.

The old woman? She is a widow and had been living all alone in that little shack on the hillside. She had $3.50 to invest in a home, and not another cent more. They called her a "squatter" but her wrinkled old face beamed, so the story is told, as she handed the auctioneer the littlewad of money that stood for her home. And the crowd contentedly looked on.

The man? At this distance nobody knows who he was, why he wanted the shack or what he thought it was worth, but he put a fine bit of sentiment in the bids of the day. And one believes that all the folk gathered there, amidst the motley array of houses, went away the better, perhaps the happier for the incident; and surely, with a firmer faith in the kindness of mankind.

It is not the sentiment often displayed in big business, or in our own smaller affairs; but as one reads of the little happening on one of Kansas City's hillside where workaday folk had gathered to buy in the poor little houses, one recalled that it was the sentiment that prevailed very widely in our earlier days. When our country was new and when each felt more or less dependent upon the other and when life had a different meaning, it was the helping hand, rather than the greedy hand, that was most in evidence. Its spirit followed the folk who drifted to the far-away west when the west was a great, untamed wilderness. Then, hands must be ready, hearts must be kind and the warm workings of fellowship must ever prevail, else the pioneers never would have pulled through to the end. All were traveling the same hard road and when one was caught by special misfortune, there were others to help make it easier. May be the pioneer life with the pioneer difficulties, brought out much of hardness and roughness, but it developed rareness, too; or perhaps it might be better to say, it simply uncovered it. It is said that the west, with its bigness, its breeziness and its good fellowship, has more than a trace of the fineness left, the fineness that goes out on its way to be kind; and that folk who live on the poorer hillside all over the world are quicker to help each other than the ones who never face adversities together.

But whether it is in the west or the east, in the busy parts of the world or the lowly places, one observes that a "touch of nature" soon travels around and that all who witness the beautiful spirit are inspired to respond, if only in the passive way of letting it work out un hindered,

just as the Kansas City gathering remained quiet while the cheap little home went to the wrinkled bidder. And didn't nature mean us all to be simpler and kinder, and bigger thereby?

Subbute—"Going to have a garden this summer." "Nonsense!" "Don't know yet. Are you going to raise chickens?"—Boston Transcript.

"Does your wife suffer in silence?" "Yes, and I am sorry. If she did not suffer in silence, perhaps she would be silent often."—Houston Post.

First Working Girl—"Say, Mame, I heard an awful thing this morning." "Second Working Girl (wearily)—"So did I—the alarm clock."—Life.

He—"Darling, refuse me, and I shall never love another girl!" She (briskly)—"What I want is a man who will promise me that if I accept him."—Judge.

"My dear Gladys, what are all these photographs of young men you have?" "Those? Oh! they're only my collection of souvenir spoons."—Baltimore American.

Visitor—"Where's all the folks gone to? Don't see a soul." The "Old Man" (on the door-step)—"All shot to pieces. Durn these 'Home Economy' magazines anyway. The wife's been gone since Friday trying to find an unheard-of drug to use in a 'simple' remedy for freckles; the cook's been working since last evening on a five-minute 'hasty-pudding' recipe, and my daughter is laid up with burning herself in a 'Home Mechanic' bath-tub that she made out of a thimble, two sieves, and a mile of lead-pipe."—Puck.

Deaf Wit.

Thomas A. Edison, said to a reporter apropos of deafness: "Deafness has its advantages. My own deafness enables me to concentrate my thoughts, as I'd never be able to do if distracted by noise and conversation. It helps me to sleep, too. 'Some men, through deafness, actually get a reputation for wit.' 'I know a stupid old fellow, deaf as a post, to whom a lady said, nodding toward a rich banker's daughter: 'Is Miss Bond a pretty girl?' 'The deaf man, misunderstanding the question, answered calmly: 'No, she isn't; but she will be when her father dies.'—New York World.

Onions Are Better.

Mrs. Hetty Green on the 15th birthday anniversary, told a reporter that she had been told by a doctor that onions were good for colds, coughs, influenza, nerves and many other maladies. "An onion," she added, "is better friend to your pocketbook than a doctor too."

"A young lady was studying to be a nurse, and she said one day to a popular surgeon: 'What did you operate on Mr. Social for?' 'For $3,000,' the surgeon answered. 'The young nurse smiled. 'No,' she said; 'I mean what did he have?' 'Three thousand dollars,' was the surgeon's reply."—New York Tribune.

Hitting Beveridge.

Not even an undertaker possessed more dignity than did Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana when that distinguished Progressive graced the United States senate. But once, according to a story related by James Wickersham, a delegate from Alaska, that dignity suffered a severe jolt. Volney Hoggatt, a famous Alaskan character, had been a witness before Senator Beveridge's committee on territories. He felt that the senator had not treated him with courtesy, and the thought rankled. So one day after, in a hotel lobby, he saw Senator Beveridge surrounded by a stately array of gentlemen, discoursing with customary gravity. "Watch me," said Hoggatt to some Alaskans with him. Marching up to the senator, he slapped Beveridge on the back, grabbed his hand and fairly howled: "Hello, Pete, you old scoundrel; when did you get in? Lord! I'm mighty glad to see you! How are all the boys? Well, well, it is good to see you again, Pete!" "Sir," said Senator Beveridge, "you have made a mistake." "Go on, Pete," said Hoggatt, slapping his back again, "don't pull any of that stuff on me. You're just the same old Pete; always kidding. Come on and have a drink. Bring your friends. Come on, boys!" "Who do you think I am, sir?" demanded Beveridge, trying to throw off the detaining arm about his shoulder. "Who do I know you are, you mean," laughed Hoggatt. "Why, you old rascal, you are Pete White, the Wichita barber, of course!"—Troy Times.

FOREIGNERS' LANGUAGE.

Mother Tongue of Persons of Foreign Stock in United States.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, D. C., May 16.—The English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch or Welsh) group was the largest among the 32,243,382 persons of foreign white stock in the United States in 1910, who represented 39.5 per cent of the total white population of this country, according to the mother tongue bulletin which has been issued recently by Director William J. Harris of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. By mother tongue is meant the native language, or that spoken before immigration, and the report covers all white persons of foreign stock, including the foreign born and also the natives, one or both of whose parents were foreign born.

As thus reported, the total foreign white stock whose mother tongue was English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch or Welsh) numbered 10,037,420. This number represented 12.3 per cent of the total white population of the United States in 1910, which was 81,731,957. The German group numbered 8,817,271, or 10.8 per cent; Italian, 2,151,422, or 2.6 per cent; Polish, 1,707,640, or 2.1 per cent; Yiddish and Hebrew, 1,676,762, or 2.1 per cent; Swedish, 1,455,869, or 1.8 per cent; French, 1,357,169, or 1.7 per cent; and Norwegian, 1,009,854, or 1.2 per cent.

The number of persons in the United States of foreign white stock reporting other principal mother tongues were: Bohemian and Moravian, 539,392; Spanish, 448,198; Danish, 446,473; Dutch and Frisian, 324,930; Magyar, 320,893; Slovak, 284,444; Lithuanian and Lettish, 211,285; Finnish, 200,688; Slovenian, 183,431; Portuguese, 141,268; Greek, 130,379; Serbo-Croatian, 129,254; (including Croatian, 93,036; Servian, 26,752; Dalmatian, 5,505; and Montenegrin, 3,981); Russian, 95,137; Roumanian, 51,124; Syrian and Arabic, 46,727; Flemish, 44,808; Ruthenian, 35,359; Slavic (not specified), 35,195; Armenian, 30,021; Bulgarian, 19,380; Turkish, 5,441; Albanian, 2,366; all other, and those whose mother tongue was unknown, 313,834.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9908.—A Simple Stylish Dress for Misses and Small Women.

Silk poplin in a new shade of blue, with facings of white braided in blue was used to make this attractive model. The waist back and sleeve are cut in one, and join the front at the deep armseye and underarm. The skirt has simple lines with a slight fullness at the belt that may be plaited or gathered. The right side of waist and skirt is lapped over the left in closing. A shaped collar trims the low "V" neck edge. The sleeve may be finished in short length, with a turned-back cuff, or in full length with or without the shaped and deep cuff. The dress is also suitable for taffeta, tub silk, voile, crepe, challis, linen, gingham, lawn and other wash fabrics. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 4 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 17 year size. The skirt measures about 1 1/4 yard at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

VERDICT OF $600 FOR EVANS.

Gabriel Didn't Pay in Order to Keep Peace in the Family.

Emory C. Evans was awarded a verdict of $600 without interest by the jury in the action brought by him against Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Gabriel which was tried before Judge Chester in supreme court on Friday. A. J. Fowler with ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier, of counsel, appeared for Mr. Evans and A. S. Embler represented the Gabriels. The action was brought by Mr. Evans to recover the amount of his bill for drilling an artesian well on the Gabriel premises in the town of Plattekill.

It was brought out by the testimony of witnesses that Mr. Gabriel had been willing to settle for the work done by Mr. Evans but his wife had refused to allow him to pay the bill and "rather than have peace in the family" he had not paid the bill.

Just before the noon recess Mr. Gabriel took the witness stand in his own behalf and after he had left the chair and taken a seat by his wife she leaned over and said "you are a positive joke."

Mr. Brinnier overheard the expression and after dinner when she took the witness stand he asked her on cross examination if she had used those words to her husband, and she admitted that she had.

The trial was concluded about three o'clock Friday afternoon and sent to the jury and when they reached a verdict court took recess to Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FOREIGNERS' LANGUAGE.

Mother Tongue of Persons of Foreign Stock in United States.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, D. C., May 16.—The English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch or Welsh) group was the largest among the 32,243,382 persons of foreign white stock in the United States in 1910, who represented 39.5 per cent of the total white population of this country, according to the mother tongue bulletin which has been issued recently by Director William J. Harris of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. By mother tongue is meant the native language, or that spoken before immigration, and the report covers all white persons of foreign stock, including the foreign born and also the natives, one or both of whose parents were foreign born.

As thus reported, the total foreign white stock whose mother tongue was English and Celtic (including Irish, Scotch or Welsh) numbered 10,037,420. This number represented 12.3 per cent of the total white population of the United States in 1910, which was 81,731,957. The German group numbered 8,817,271, or 10.8 per cent; Italian, 1,707,640, or 2.1 per cent; Polish, 1,676,762, or 2.1 per cent; Swedish, 1,455,869, or 1.8 per cent; French, 1,357,169, or 1.7 per cent; and Norwegian, 1,009,854, or 1.2 per cent.

The number of persons in the United States of foreign white stock reporting other principal mother tongues were: Bohemian and Moravian, 539,392; Spanish, 448,198; Danish, 446,473; Dutch and Frisian, 324,930; Magyar, 320,893; Slovak, 284,444; Lithuanian and Lettish, 211,235; Finnish, 200,688; Slovenian, 183,431; Portuguese, 141,268; Greek, 130,379; Serbo-Croatian, 129,254; (including Croatian, 93,036; Serbian, 26,752; Dalmatian, 5,505; and Montenegrin, 3,981); Russian, 95,137; Roumanian, 51,124; Syrian and Arabic, 46,727; Flemish, 44,806; Ruthenian, 35,353; Slavie (not specified), 35,195; Armenian, 30,021; Bulgarian, 19,380; Turkish, 5,441; Albanian, 2,366; all other, and those whose mother tongue was unknown, 313,834.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

9908.—A Simple Stylish Dress for Misses and Small Women.

Silk poplin in a new shade of blue, with facings of white braided in blue was used to make this attractive model. The waist back and sleeve are cut in one, and join the front at the deep armhole and underarm. The skirt has simple lines with a slight fullness at the belt that may be plaited or gathered. The right side of waist and skirt is lapped over the left in closing. A shaped collar trims the low "V" neck edge. The sleeve may be finished in short length, with a turned-back cuff, or in full length with or without the shaped and deep cuff. The dress is also suitable for tulle, tub silk, voile, crepe, challie, linen, gingham, lawn and other wash fabrics. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 17 and 18 years. It requires 4½ yards of 44 inch material for a 17 year size. The skirt measures about 1¼ yard at the foot.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

VERDICT OF $600 FOR EVANS.

Gabriel Didn't Pay in Order to Keep Peace in the Family.

Emory C. Evans was awarded a verdict of $600 without interest by the jury in the action brought by him against Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Gabriel which was tried before Judge Chester in supreme court on Friday. A. J. Fowler with ex-Mayor William D. Brinnier, of counsel, appeared for Mr. Evans and A. S. Embler represented the Gabriels. The action was brought by Mr. Evans to recover the amount of his bill for drilling an artesian well on the Gabriel premises in the town of Plattekill.

It was brought out by the testimony of witnesses that Mr. Gabriel had been willing to settle for the work done by Mr. Evans but his wife had refused to allow him to pay the bill and "rather than have in the family" he had not paid the bill.

Just before the noon recess Mr. Gabriel took the witness stand in his own behalf and after he had left the chair and taken a seat by his wife she leaned over and said "you are a positive joke."

Mr. Brinnier overheard the expression and after dinner when she took the witness stand he asked her on cross examination if she had used those words to her husband, and she admitted that she had.

The trial was concluded about three o'clock Friday afternoon and sent to the jury and when they reached a verdict court took recess to Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

CITY WILL BORROW $30,000 ON NOTES

Unpaid Claims From Last Year, Election Expenses, Snow Removed and Other Extraordinary Expenses Make This Necessary.

Mayor Canfield sent a communication to the common council on Friday showing that there would be a total deficiency in the city's funds unless some steps were taken to remedy this at once. According to the mayor's figures unpaid claims from last year, the cost of snow removal and other extraordinary expenditures would leave the credit of the city in bad shape. All the aldermen were present except Dr. W. J. Smith.

Residents on Lincoln street petitioned for a water main on that street between Clifton avenue and Farrelly street. On motion of Alderman Schick the matter was referred to the board of water commissioners with a request that the prayer of petitioners be granted. Mayor Canfield's communication recited that there were unpaid claims from 1913, the cost of snow removal was $6,000, $1,700 had not been paid on the McEntee street paving, there had been no provision made for the late special election, there was no provision made yet for the nine new polling places necessary under the new law, it was necessary to dredge the Rondout creek and the city hall lock-up had been ordered remodeled. The mayor asked that he and the city treasurer be authorized to borrow on notes of the city on June 1 the sum of $20,000 to be added to the general fund. In closing he said he hoped that the aldermen would forget partisan feeling as the patience of some of the city's creditors would be exhausted and there might be costly litigation unless something was done. On motion of Alderman McKittick the request was granted by a unanimous vote.

The state prison commission served notice on the common council to show cause at a meeting on June 2 at 10 a. m. why the city hall lock-up should not be closed. The matter was referred to the mayor with power.

Corporation Counsel Brinnier called attention to the judgment of $2,445 obtained by the L. F. Bannion Company against the city and asked the direction of the common council. On motion of Alderman Moyle the council was authorized to take an appeal.

The report of the city treasurer showed a balance in all funds of $197,627.75 and $29,105.98 in the general fund. Filed.

The following resolutions were then introduced: By Alderman Myers, that the alley at Cedar and Martin's Lane be removed to corner of Cedar and Prospect streets and incandescent light be placed at first corner. Carried.

By Alderman Moyle, that a catch basin be placed on Brewster street between Broadway and Lavan street. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman Mitchell, that the janitor procure a key for desk No. 4 in the council chamber which has not been unlocked this year. Referred to the alderman with power.

By Alderman Martin, that the street superintendent place either a concrete wall or iron rail on Main street near Tannery block instead of wooden rail. Referred to street superintendent.

By Alderman McCullough, that the city engineer prepare an ordinance for grading and topdressing McEntee street between Hone and Pierpont street. Carried.

By Alderman Moyle, that an arch light be placed on the corner of Staples and Lavan streets. Referred to ways and means committee.

By Alderman Leverich, that the street superintendent fill holes on shore road from Delaware avenue to city line. Referred to street superintendent with power.

By Alderman McCullough, that the street superintendent place a man hole on New street, between the present one and Montrose avenue. Referred to street superintendent.

By Alderman Leverich, that North street between Union street and Delaware avenue be repaired. Referred with power.

By Alderman Schick, for the presiding officer, that the street superintendent fill holes on Franklin street between Wall and Clinton avenue. Referred with power.

By Alderman McCullough, that as West Chestnut street has been torn up for the water main, that the balance be torn up and topdressed, the tarvia treatment to be used. Referred to the street committee.

By Alderman Leverich, that the street superintendent place a crosswalk at Ponckhockie and Walnut street. Referred to street superintendent.

By Alderman Mitchell, that Pierpont street from Broadway to Chambers street be topdressed and rolled. Referred to street committee.

By Alderman Mitchell, that Ann street be repaired. Referred with power.

By Alderman Moyle, that the street superintendent spray the trees on the city hall grounds. Referred with power.

Alderman Myers introduced an ordinance regulating the hours for blacking boots on the first day of the week. It restricts the work until noon time. The penalty of $5 for the first offense and $10 for second. Referred to corporation counsel and committee on laws.

The council then adjourned.

PELL FROM A WINDOW.

Mrs. Ashby Seriously Injured In Ponckhockie Friday Afternoon.

Mrs. Alfred Ashby of Ponckhockie street was seriously injured on Friday afternoon by a fall from the window and was removed to the Benedictine Sanitarium by Dr. Mark O'Meara, who attended her. At the time of the accident Mrs. Ashby was busy at working washing the windows in the residence of Seth Staples, 42 Grove street, and in some manner she lost her balance and fell to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet, striking on the side of her head. It is feared that she suffered a fracture at the base of the skull as a result of the fall. She was also badly bruised about the body.

MARVELS OF SCIENCE AT CHAUTAUQUA

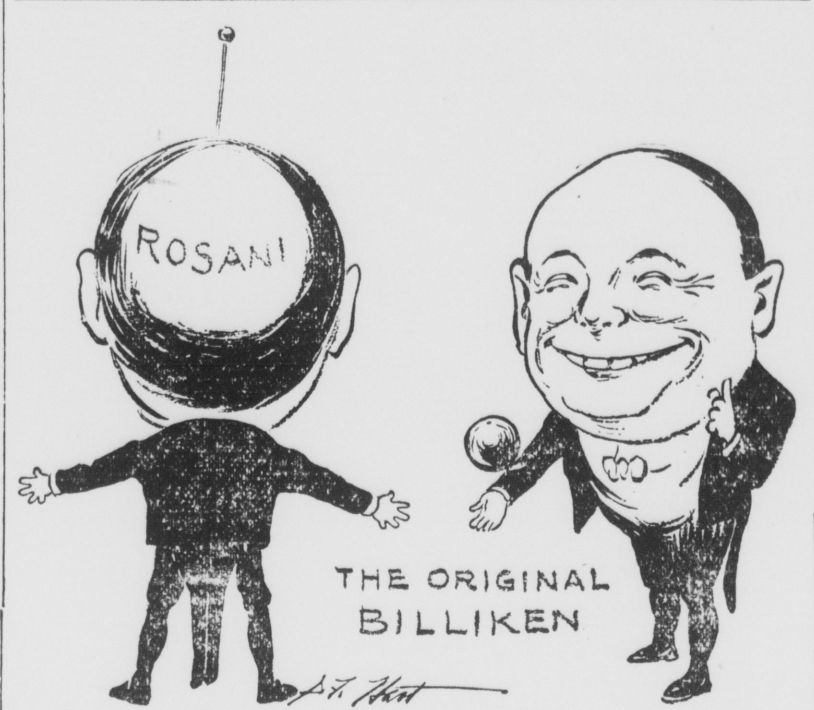

The marvels of modern science were exemplified at the Friday evening session of Chautauqua at the armory by Reno B. Welbourn in a wonderful way when he delivered his famous lecture on "The Wonders of Science," and some of the feats he performed were almost unbelievable. Mr. Welbourn's lecture was one of the best and most educational of the series of fine lectures being given during Chautauqua week and he held his audience spell bound for an hour and a half. The concert of the evening was delivered by Henry Such, violinist, accompanied by his wife on the piano.

also power in the shadows and by passing his hand between the electric light bulb and the mechanical eye he knocked down a tower of blocks and even lighted a fire.

Another seemingly impossible feat was lighting a fire with a piece of ice. He took a small slab of iron and placed some unknown chemicals on top of the iron and lighted the chemicals with a piece of ice and in three seconds had burned a hole through the iron, which he passed to the audience to examine.

The power of sound was demonstrated with the aid of two tuning forks that were tuned in unison. He placed one tuning fork on the table near a tower of blocks and then walking to the other end of the stage he sounded the tuning fork in his hand and the vibrations caused the other tuning fork to resound knocking down the blocks.

These were only a very few of the wonderful feats he performed and it is impossible to give an adequate description of the wonders he performed.

Mr. Such's recital amply demonstrated that he was a master of the violin, but as his selections were all of a classical nature they did not appeal personally to the writer, who labors under the impression that all classical music should be stored away in the attic of outworn things along with the old flint and steel and the horse car. A large number of the audience, however, appreciated his playing of the old masters, as was shown by the hearty applause he received.

The principal feature of the evening was the lecture by Mr. Welbourn, which was so good that it would stand a repetition. His feats were all of a spectacular nature. He was aided in his work by what he called a mechanical eye. By passing a lighted electric light in front of the eye he knocked down a tower of building blocks, fired off a cannon and did other staggering feats. After showing what a beam of light in the hands of a scientist could do, he proved that there was

At the afternoon session Mr. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave the first two acts of "The Lion and the Mouse" and the last two acts were given at this afternoon's session. Mr. Elliott has proven to be one of the favorite attractions and has made a number of friends by his art. It is a pity that the program is so arranged that those who are only able to attend the evening sessions have not an opportunity of hearing Mr. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Such also gave a fine program at the afternoon session and Dr. Paul M. Pearson gave his excellent lecture on "The Joy of Living." His lecture was filled with wit and humor and he made a big hit with the audience.

This evening the program will be of exceptional interest. A concert will be given by the Tuskegee Institute Singers and Rosani, the prince of jugglers, will also be one of the attractions. The armory should be crowded to the doors this evening.

PELL FROM A WINDOW.

Mrs. Ashby Seriously Injured In Ponckhockie Friday Afternoon.

Mrs. Alfred Ashby of Ponckhockie street was seriously injured on Friday afternoon by a fall from the window and was removed to the Benedictine Sanitarium by Dr. Mark O'Meara, who attended her. At the time of the accident Mrs. Ashby was busy at working washing the windows in the residence of Seth Staples, 42 Grove street, and in some manner she lost her balance and fell to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet, striking on the side of her head. It is feared that she suffered a fracture at the base of the skull as a result of the fall. She was also badly bruised about the body.

Gentleness at Home.

Use your gentlest voice at home. Watch it day by day as a pearl of great price, for it will be worth more to you in days to come than the best pearl bid in the sea. A kind voice is joy, like a lark's song, to a heart at home. It is a light that sings as well as shines. Train it to sweet tones now, and it will keep in tune through life.—Elihu Burritt.

MARVELS OF SCIENCE AT CHAUTAUQUA

The marvels of modern science were exemplified at the Friday evening session of Chautauqua at the armory by Reno B. Welbourn in a wonderful way when he delivered his famous lecture on "The Wonders of Science," and some of the feats he performed were almost unbelievable. Mr. Welbourn's lecture was one of the best and most educational of the series of fine lectures being given during Chautauqua week and he held his audience spell bound for an hour and a half. The concert of the evening was delivered by Henry Such, violinist, accompanied by his wife on the piano.

THE ORIGINAL BILLIKEN

Mr. Such's recital amply demonstrated that he was a master of the violin, but as his selections were all of a classical nature they did not appeal personally to the writer, who labors under the impression that all classical music should be stored away in the attic of outworn tunings along with the old flint and steel and the horse car. A large number of the audience, however, appreciated his playing of the old masters, as was shown by the hearty applause he received.

The principal feature of the evening was the lecture by Mr. Welbourn, which was so good that it would stand a repetition. His feats were all of a spectacular nature. He was aided in his work by what he called a mechanical eye. By passing a lighted electric light in front of the eye he knocked down a tower of building blocks, fired off a cannon and did other staggering feats. After showing what a beam of light in the hands of a scientist could do, he proved that there was also power in the shadows and by passing his hand between the electric light bulb and the mechanical eye he knocked down a tower of blocks and even lighted a fire.

Another seemingly impossible feat was lighting a fire with a piece of ice. He took a small slab of iron and placed some unknown chemicals on top of the iron and lighted the chemicals with a piece of ice and in three seconds had burned a hole through the iron, which he passed to the audience to examine.

The power of sound was demonstrated with the aid of two tuning forks that were tuned in unison. He placed one tuning fork on the table near a tower of blocks and then walking to the other end of the stage he sounded the tuning fork in his hand and the vibrations caused the other tuning fork to resound knocking down the blocks.

These were only a very few of the wonderful feats he performed and it is impossible to give an adequate description of the wonders he performed.

At the afternoon session Mr. Elliott, the platform superintendent, gave the first two acts of "The Lion and the Mouse" and the last two acts were given at this afternoon's session. Mr. Elliott has proven to be one of the favorite attractions and has made a number of friends by his art. It is a pity that the program is so arranged that those who are only able to attend the evening sessions have not an opportunity of hearing Mr. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Such also gave a fine program at the afternoon session and Dr. Paul M. Pearson gave his excellent lecture on "The Joy of Living." His lecture was filled with wit and humor and he made a big hit with the audience.

This evening the program will be of exceptional interest. A concert will be given by the Tuskegee Institute Singers and Rosani, the prince of jugglers, will also be one of the attractions. The armory should be crowded to the doors this evening.

CRITICAL DAY FOR THE MEDIATORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, May 16.—This is a critical day for mediation—the dispute between Mexico and the United States. While the White House and State department were awaiting an explanation from President Huerta of the imprisonment of Consul John R. Silliman and the alleged execution of Private Samuel Parks, an American soldier, by Mexican troops outside of Vera Cruz, the "A. B. C." mediators were awaiting the arrival of Huerta's delegates on their way to the peace conference.

It was admitted by one of the most prominent of the mediators that only the arrival of the Huerta delegates and an explanation as to the authority they have to act would determine whether the proceedings scheduled to begin next Wednesday would be of any value. Unless the mediators learn that the dictator has given his representatives full power to act, there is likely to be another postponement. In fact, the negotiations probably will be called off.

Though hope was expressed in administration circles that the peace efforts of the South American envoys would be successful, there was a fresh crop of war rumors, following the news that the United States wanted an explanation from General Huerta as to the fate of Private Samuel Parks. Reports of the crumbling state of Huerta's regime and rumors that he is ready to retire on "satisfactory terms" furnished a basis for optimism, however.

Reports received by the British embassy that Silliman was safe, helped to clarify the situation somewhat. As the mediation conference at Niagara Falls will be held on Wednesday instead of Monday, in compliance with the request of Huerta's delegates for a postponement, the mediators changed their plans of departure from this city today and will leave here on Monday.

The rebels may obtain arms and ammunition with which to carry on their campaign against Huerta, according to Secretary of the Navy Daniels' explanation that the order establishing an embargo on arms had reference only to the border and not to sea ports. Both Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary Daniels say that they see no reason why the rebels should not receive war munitions via Tampico. This, it is thought here, will put new vigor into the efforts of the Constitutionalists to depose Huerta.

While the rebels gather strength for prosecuting their campaign, Huerta is said to be sitting out a mine of plots which have formed following the rebels' successes. There are reports of a revival of the Felix Diaz revolt while Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of finance and leader in the overthrow of Madero, is reported to be heading another plot. Carranza and Villa, it is said by men conversant with Mexican conditions, will face further trouble after they have won their way to the capital and ousted Huerta.

American destroyers are trailing in the wake of the Mexican Federal gunboats which fled from Tampico and whose captains told Admiral Mayo they were going to Puerto Mexico. It is feared that the gunboats might attempt injury to American transports or merchant vessels or attempt to put out the coastwise lights, so they are being watched.

New York Police Parade.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, May 16.—Eight thousand policemen, a record number, took part in the annual parade in this city today. The procession marched up Fifth avenue from Twenty-third street to the Fifty-ninth street plaza, where they were reviewed by Mayor John Purroy Mitchel and a number of high police and city officials.

Levi P. Morton's Birthday.

Levi P. Morton, former vice president of the United States and governor of New York state, celebrated his ninetieth birthday at his country estate at Rhinebeck today. With his daughter, Mrs. Winthrop Rutherford, he expected to spend the day in walking about his extensive holdings, known as "Ellerslie." There was no formal celebration of the event.

FUNDS NEEDED BY CHARITIES

Work Halted Because of Lack of Money—Samples of Cases Recently Attended to by the County Agent.

It was brought out at the meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the Charities Aid Association held at the court house on Friday evening that the work of the local branch was seriously impaired by the lack of funds and that the finances were at a very low ebb. The work for the past few months has been almost entirely financed by one who was interested in it. The work of the local branch is financed partly by an appropriation from the board of supervisors and partly by private subscription. This private subscription fund has been entirely exhausted and the work has been curtailed as it was found necessary to carry on what work was done by using the funds available for June. This work is of the utmost importance to the city and county generally and it was decided at the meeting that it would be probably best to hold a dance in the near future to raise funds. Nothing definite, however, was decided upon.

The work of the local branch should not be curtailed in any respect as it is of the utmost importance and all who are interested should be willing to aid both with financial and moral support. Miss Oughthorpe submitted the following interesting report of the work accomplished during the past three months: "It has been necessary to make 20 visits to children in boarding homes; 22 visits to institutions where children are boarded; 667 visits and interviews with friends and relatives of children; 180 interviews with officials in regard to children; miscellaneous 8; making a total of 907. There were 276 letters written."

One of the cases which has aroused special interest because of the peculiarly harsh treatment of the children was that of the three children who were brought in from Hurley by the agent. This was the case where the mother had run away from her husband a few weeks previously taking with her the hired man the three children, the cow and the phonograph. The husband came to the agent asking that the children be taken from the mother. However, he was not willing to agree to support them and the town from which they had emigrated to Hurley was not willing to let them become public charges as the family itself was capable of supporting them. There were many letters and interviews and finally the grandfather agreed to pay the board of the children.

The day that the agent was arranging to go out after the children here came a call from the justice of the peace saying that the case had been brought to his attention because a few days previously the two children had been severely beaten and that one of these children, a little boy, was in a serious condition. The little boy was taken care of at the Benedictine Sanitarium for a month and is now in a boarding house and arrangements are under way to have him transferred to a hospital for cripples so that he may receive the proper surgical treatment. He has not been able to walk since birth. The little girl, an old girl is being cared for in the industrial home and the managers have written to Syracuse and there is every hope that the child in that institution within the next couple of months.

Another family where the conditions were particularly bad was that of a family of four. This family had been visited by Miss Schanche, the former agent, and ordered to remove from an old stone hotel in which they were living. They obeyed the notice shortly, according to the letter, and the place to which they moved was no better than the former dwelling had been.

The woman had left her first husband, a good-for-nothing scamp, and gone to live with another man who seemed to work regularly but who seemed to spend his money at home. The dirt had become so grimed in the skins of the people that no one could decide at a first glance whether they were negroes or Italians. The mother is a typical witch. She has short white hair hanging around her face. She held her children tightly to her and screamed all the time. The husband injured his leg and was sent by the town to the hospital where later he died. The mother refused to give up the children, and as she had no money with which to support them, and was not capable of supporting them, court action was brought. The scene in the court room was horrible. The woman screamed and shrieked at the top of her lungs and finally when the children were given in custody of the agent they had to be taken by main force. The children with their mother screamed in the same way, but as soon as they were away from their mother they became quiet little children. Since that time the mother has become reconciled to giving up her children and is now staying contentedly at the alms house.

MRS. VASSILLIEU WANTS HER FREEDOM

Greek Husband Threatened to Kill Her Unless She Married Him and Pursued Her With Threats.

Because she was married before she had reached the age of consent, Margaret Vassillieu is suing Peter Vassillieu for an annulment of her marriage to him and a searing was had in the case before Judge Hassbrouck at supreme court chambers this morning.

The Vassillieus were married at the English Lutheran Church in this city on August 15, 1900, by the Rev. William F. Bacher. Before her marriage, Mrs. Vassillieu was Miss Margaret Benn. She was born in West Camp, and resided here with her mother.

Before her marriage Mrs. Vassillieu was employed in the Powell, Smith & Company cigar factory, and she married Vassillieu, she testified, only after he had threatened to kill her and then to kill himself unless she consented to a marriage. Vassillieu, with two cousins, at that time conducted a fruit store on lower Broadway, Vassillieu being a Greek. The threat to kill her was made at the cigar factory, which Vassillieu visited while Miss Benn was at work. That night he came to her house, but she threw him out.

"Were you able to do it alone?" she was asked.

"O. I handled him all right," she replied. From the time of their marriage, she testified, her husband ill treated her, and in the following fall she left him and went to Cohoes. She returned in a few weeks to Kingston, and he induced her to live with him, but she remained only a few weeks when she again left and went to Mt. Marion, where she stayed with her aunt until one day she received a telephone message from him in which he said that unless she returned at once he would throw all of her clothes and other belongings out of the window. She returned, but later left him again and went to New York. Altogether she left him four times, the return to him being due entirely to his threats of bodily harm unless she did return.

Since going to New York, she testified, she has been working in various cigar factories, but Vassillieu has attempted to have her discharged and has demanded at different times that she should return. On one occasion she said, it was necessary for her to call a policeman.

In 1900 her picture was printed in the New York World, with a statement that her husband feared that her love for dancing had led her away and that she had disappeared. Mrs. Vassillieu denied this statement, and said she never danced. "If not, why not?" asked Judge Hassbrouck, but Mrs. Vassillieu only smiled instead of replying.

Vassillieu now conducts a florist's shop in the Bronx.

D. H. Daley of Coxsack, counsel for Mrs. Vassillieu, called attention to the fact that Mrs. Vassillieu asked for no counsel fee or any allowance for expenses, although she would be put to extra expense should another hearing be had in the case. "No, indeed, judge," interrupted Mrs. Vassillieu. "I wouldn't accept anything from him. All I want is my freedom."

To questions by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, who appeared for Vassillieu, Mrs. Vassillieu said she had no intention of remarrying and was not seeking to obtain an annulment of her marriage for that purpose.

The family Bible which was introduced in evidence, showed a record of Mrs. Vassillieu's birth on March 10, 1883, so that she was 17 years old at the time of her marriage.

To give Vassillieu an opportunity of being present and giving testimony, the matter was adjourned to May 23.

Change of Time Table.

Beginning Sunday night at 5 o'clock there will be a change of time on the Central-Hudson line of steamboats leaving Rondout. The Benjamin B. Odell will leave this point on Sunday evening at 5 o'clock and the Newburgh will return to the Newburgh route for the summer season. In its place the William F. Romer will be put on the route after undergoing a thorough overhauling and will leave here Monday night. The Newburgh and Ramsdell will be used as opposite boats on the Newburgh-New York route.

Five Bad Boys.

Five boys were brought before Recorder Grogan this morning on the charge of committing depredations near the Church of the Comforter on Wynkoop Place, although they were not placed under the disgrace of arrest. By consent the matter was adjourned until Monday when the court will act on the case.

Fowler in Italy.

Messages have been received in Kingston by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fowler that they were in Italy and enjoying their stay in that country very much.

Keep Off the Sidewalk.

The police have received a number of complaints about bicycle riding on the sidewalks on Hurley avenue. Arrests will be made if the practice is continued.

BLAZING OIL IN THE WALKKILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Middletown, N. Y., May 16.—After burning more than 24 hours the fire which started in the Unionville plant of the Standard Oil Company then spread to four tanks containing 120,000 barrels of oil, was gotten under control today. The loss is estimated at $390,000. Oil from the tanks escaped into the Walkkill river and for miles the surface of the water was ablaze.

MELOSJOS OF MARLBOROUGH.

Prisoner Who Got the Worst of An Encounter.

Jose Melosjos, an Austrian 23 years old, was brought to the county jail on Friday evening to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree, having been held by Justice Johnson of Marlborough. According to the story as told Jose, who had been stopping in Marlborough for several weeks, on Friday morning started in to break in the windows of a house owned by George LaDeur of that village. LaDeur heard of it and jumping in a surrey drove to the house. Jose saw him coming and ran into a strip of woods nearby and LaDeur, who carried a shot gun, followed Jose. Jose turned and it is alleged pulled a knife which LaDeur struck him over the head with the stock of the gun, knocking him down. LaDeur then forced Jose into the wagon and took him back to the village and had him arraigned before the justice. Jose when brought to the jail was covered with blood from his nose, which was battered in where he had been struck with the gun stock.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Kingston Council, No. 356, United Commercial Travelers, will meet in Pythian Hall this evening.

The Colonial Minstrels.

Additional talent is being added to the cast of the Colonial minstrels daily. Bert W. Lowe announces that he has secured Thomas Dolan of Dolan's minstrels as an end man, and has also been very fortunate in securing Fox and Lawrence the well known dancing team. This team has recently returned from New York city where they were the hit of every bill in which they appeared. Some very big surprises are in store for those who patronize the show and an entertainment of rare excellence is guaranteed. There will probably not be a case of the blues in Kingston for many days after the minstrels for fun is contagious and surely everyone in town will go to see the biggest show ever offered to the people of the city. The minstrels have been advertised as the only show of the season and judging from the program this is correct. Don't forget that the big show will be given for the benefit of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Silverstein Case Argued.

A hearing on the motion to vacate the writ of habeas corpus obtained by Isadora Silverstein was argued before Judge Hand of the United States district court in New York city on Friday, and at the close of the argument the court reserved decision. Arthur E. Rose of the firm Rose & Brooks the attorneys for Miss Riley, who secured the body execution on which Silverstein was arrested, appeared in favor of the motion. The court decided that it would pass upon the question as to whether the United States district court had the power to discharge Silverstein from the custody of the sheriff of Ulster county. Awaiting the decision of the court Silverstein was allowed his freedom upon continuing his cash bond of $1,000.

Two Divorce Cases.

In the case of Allen F. Jones against Louis W. Jones, Judge Hassbrouck this morning granted a final decree of divorce. The case was tried some time ago. Brinrier & Canfield appeared for the plaintiff. In the case of Agnes E. France, an infant, by Augusta Koskie, her guardian ad litem, an action for a separation, an order was signed denying the motion recently made by the defendant to change the place of trial from Ulster county to New York county, and an order was also signed granting the plaintiff's motion for alimony and counsel fee. Brinrier & Canfield appeared for the plaintiff.

Ascension Day service on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.; subject of the sermon: "He Was Received Up Into Heaven."

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Barney Oldfield, driving the famous 200 horsepower car in which he made his great record of 141 miles an hour at Dayton Beach, passed through Kingston at noon on Friday on his way to Catskill.

Automobilists should beware of the Catskill and Athens speed traps and motorcycle cops. At Catskill automobilists are held down to 15 miles an hour within the village limits and 8 miles an hour crossing the bridge. A number of Kingston folks were caught last Sunday. As the village limits extend away out in the country, drivers are likely to speed up before they are out of the village. One Kingston automobilist was chased half a mile beyond the village limits by a motorcycle cop and didn't know he had done anything wrong or was even being pursued until the cop fired two shots after him. The cop was real peevish and said he'd "burn holes in your shoes" next time.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Mrs. Ella Simmons Schultz, daughter of Melvin Simmons of Rhinebeck, and John J. Bishop of this city. The wedding will take place in the near future.

The schoolship Newport of New York, Captain Driggs in command, is making a visit to Kingston out of compliment to the members of the Colonial Dames resident here. Since the year 1909 the Colonial Dames of New York state, affiliated with the national organization, has given each year a Henry Hudson memorial prize, consisting of a gold watch, to that cadet of the Newport who shall rank highest for general proficiency. Mrs. Francis J. Higginson is chairman of this prize committee. Other members of the Colonial Dames in Kingston are Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth and Miss Mary Haldane.

The Rev. Lemuel Davis of Stowe, Vermont, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fowler of Clifton avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and their guest of honor were given a very pleasant surprise Friday evening by the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Stenburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Blanshan, Miss Blanche Criswell, Miss Florence Craig, Miss Lulu Van Stenburgh, Harold Blanshan, Edwin Blanshan and Raymond Day. Music and games were enjoyed and during the evening light refreshments were served. A very delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

The card party and social at Cook's Hall on Thursday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all attending. Cards were played and dainty prizes awarded a large percentage of the players. All the latest dance music was discoursed by an excellent Grafonia, the use of which was secured through the generosity of Mr. MacFadden of the L. B. Van Wagenen Company. The machine was ably operated by Mr. Ford, who amply demonstrated the ability of the Grafonia to supply dance music in the various modern dances. Many of the records were of high classical order and were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Dancing was indulged in until a late hour and refreshments served. The proceeds were for the Rev. D. P. Langan of Aiken, S. C.

Spark Set Roof on Fire.

A spark from the chimney setting the roof of the blacksmith shop of Abram Van Kleeck, 420 Washington avenue, on fire this morning, caused an alarm of fire to be rung in from box 95. Wiltwyck Hose Company, who was on the scene within a few minutes soon had a line of hose on the blaze and extinguished the fire. The damage to the roof was slight. The Central Hook and Ladder arrived a few minutes later.

Chicago Grain Markets.

A Surreptitious Gift

By F. A. MITCHEL

"Martin," said my father to me one day, "I have been speaking with your mother about you, and we have decided that it would be pleasant for us all if you would go to Stuttgart and make the acquaintance of your cousins. When I came to America I left a sister, of whom I was and am today very fond. I cannot leave the business to make the trip myself, but later, when you have taken my place in its management, I hope to do so. It is better that you should go now before you have become absorbed in other matters."

I was delighted with the prospect of a trip abroad. My father not only gave me a liberal sum for the trip, but a separate amount which he intended that I should turn over to the family I was going to visit. "They are very sensitive," he said, "and I rely on your tact to turn this money over to them without hurting their feelings. I don't know exactly how they are situated, but I fear they are not overburdened with this world's goods."

I found my aunt and my cousins exactly what my father had described them. Never was there a more amusing and, to me, touching instance of a family striving to put the best foot forward. Having been coached as to this by my father, on my arrival at Stuttgart I put up at a hotel and announced my arrival by mail rather than go at once to their home, thus giving them time to make any preparations they might wish to hide their real circumstances. I heard nothing from them for twenty-four hours, when my uncle called on me and apologized for the delay in welcoming me, saying also that on no condition would the family permit me to remain at a hotel, but that their guest chamber needed attention, and they had been overhauling it.

I thanked my uncle for the proffered hospitality, but declined on the ground that I was troubled with insomnia and must be in a house in which I could go about at all hours of the night. However, I accompanied him to his home, a house of diminutive size, but very neat, and my aunt welcomed me affectionately. My cousin Anna, a

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 16.—This is a critical day for mediation—the dispute between Mexico and the United States. While the White House and State department were awaiting an explanation from President Huerta of the imprisonment of Consul John R. Silliman and the alleged execution of Private Samuel Parks, an American soldier, by Mexican troops outside of Vera Cruz, the "A. B. C." mediators were awaiting the arrival of Huerta's delegates on their way to the peace conference.

It was admitted by one of the most prominent of the mediators that only the arrival of the Huerta delegates and an explanation as to the authority they have to act would determine whether the proceedings scheduled to begin next Wednesday would be of any value. Unless the mediators learn that the dictator has given his representatives full power to act, there is likely to be another postponement. In fact, the negotiations probably will be called off.

Though hope was expressed in administration circles that the peace efforts of the South American envoys would be successful, there was a fresh crop of war rumors following the news that the United States wanted an explanation from General Huerta as to the fate of Private Samuel Parks. Reports of the crumbling state of Huerta's regime and rumors that he is ready to retire on "satisfactory terms" furnished a basis for optimism, however.

Reports received by the British embassy that Silliman was safe, helped to clarify the situation somewhat. As the mediation conference at Niagara Falls will be held on Wednesday instead of Monday, in compliance with the request of Huerta's delegates for a postponement, the mediators changed their plans of departure from this city today and will leave here on Monday.

The rebels may obtain arms and ammunition with which to carry on their campaign against Huerta, according to Secretary of the Navy Daniels' explanation that the order establishing an embargo on arms had reference only to the border and not to sea ports. Both Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary Daniels say that they see no reason why the rebels should not receive war munitions via Tampico. This is thought here, will put new vigor into the efforts of the Constitutionalists to depose Huerta.

While the rebels gather strength for prosecuting their campaign, Huerta is said to be sitting over a mine of plots which have formed following the rebels' successes. There are reports of a revival of the Felix Diaz revolt while Rodolfo Reyes, former minister of finance and leader in the overthrow of Madero, is reported to be heading another plot. Carranza and Villa, it is said by men conversant with Mexican conditions, will face further trouble after they have won their way to the capital and ousted Huerta.

American destroyers are trailing in the wake of the Mexican Federal gunboats which fled from Tampico and whose captains told Admiral Mayo they were going to Puerto Mexico. It is feared that the gunboats might attempt injury to American transports or merchant vessels or attempt to put out the coastwise lights, so they are being watched.

New York Police Parade.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 16.—Eight thousand policemen, a record number, took part in the annual parade in this city today. The procession marched up Fifth avenue from Twenty-third street to the Fifty-ninth street plaza, where they were reviewed by Mayor John Purroy Mitchell and a number of high police and city officials.

FUNDS NEEDED BY CHARITIES AID

Work Halted Because of Lack of Money—Samples of Cases Recently Attended to by the County Agent.

It was brought out at the meeting of the Ulster County Branch of State Charities Aid Association held at the court house on Friday evening that the work of the local branch was seriously impaired by the lack of funds and that the finances were at a very low ebb. The work for the past few months has been almost entirely financed by one who was interested in it. The work of the local branch is financed partly by an appropriation from the board of supervisors and partly by private subscription. This private subscription fund has been entirely exhausted and the work has been curtailed as it was found necessary to carry on what work was done by using the funds available for June. This work is of the utmost importance to the city and county generally and it was decided at the meeting that it would be probably best to hold a dance in the near future to raise funds. Nothing definite, however, was decided upon.

The work of the local branch should not be curtailed in any respect as it is of the utmost importance and all who are interested should be willing to aid both with financial and moral support.

Miss Oughelstein submitted the following interesting report of the work accomplished during the past three months: "It has been necessary to make 20 visits to children in boarding homes; 22 visits to institutions where children are boarded; 667 visits and interviews with friends and relatives of children; 180 interviews with officials in regard to children; miscellaneous 8; making a total of 907. There were 276 letters written."

One of the cases which has aroused special interest because of the peculiarly harsh treatment of the children was that of the three children who were brought in from Hungary by the agent. This was the case where the mother had run away from her husband a few weeks previously taking with her the hired man the three children, the cow and the phonograph. The husband came to the agent asking that the children be taken from the mother. However, he was not willing to agree to support them and the town from which they had emigrated to Hurley was not willing to let them become public charges as the family itself was capable of supporting them. There were many letters and interviews and finally the grandfather agreed to pay the board of the children.

The day that the agent was arranging to go out after the children here came a call from the justice of the peace saying that the case had been brought to his attention because a few days previously the two children had been severely beaten and that one of these children, a little boy, was in a serious condition. The little boy was taken care of at the Benedictine Sanitarium for a month and is now in a boarding house and arrangements are under way to have him transferred to a hospital for cripples so that he may receive the proper surgical treatment. He has not been able to walk since birth. The little seven year old girl is being cared for at the Industrial Home and the managers have written to Syracuse and there is every hope to get the child in that institution within the next couple of months.

Another family where the conditions were particularly bad was that of a family of four. This family had been visited by Miss Schanche, the former agent, and ordered to remove from an old stone hotel in which they were living. They obeyed the notice shortly, according to the letter, and the place to which they moved was no better than the former dwelling had been.

The woman had left her first husband a good-for-nothing scamp, and gone to live with another man who seemed to work regularly but who never seemed to spend his money at home. The dirt had become so grimed in the skins of the people that no one could decide at a first glance whether they were negroes or Italians. The mother is a typical witch. She has short white hair hanging around her face. She held her children tightly to her and screamed all the time. The husband injured his leg and was sent by town to the hospital where later he died. The mother refused to give up the children and as she had no money with which to support them, court action was brought. The scene in the court room was horrible. The woman screamed and shrieked at the top of her lungs and finally when the children were given in custody of the agent they had to be taken by main force. The children with their mother screamed in the same way, but as soon as they were away from their mother they became quiet little children. Since that time the mother has become reconciled to giving up her children and is now staying contentedly at the alms house.

Change of Time Table.

Beginning Sunday night at 5 o'clock there will be a change of time on the Central-Hudson line of steamboats leaving Rondout. The Benjamin B. Odell will leave this point on Sunday evening at 5 o'clock and the Newburgh will return to the Newburgh route for the summer season. In its place the William F. Romer will be put on the route after undergoing a thorough overhauling and will leave here Monday night. The Newburgh and Ramadell will be used as opposite boats on the Newburgh-New York route.

Five Bad Boys.

Five boys were brought before Recorder Grogan this morning on the charge of committing depredations near the Church of the Comforter on Wynkoop Place, although they were not placed under the disgrace of arrest. By consent the matter was adjourned until Monday when the court will act on the case.

Fowler in Italy.

Messages have been received in Kingston by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Fowler that they were in Italy and enjoying their stay in that country very much.

Keep Off the Sidewalk.

The police have received a number of complaints about bicycle riding on the sidewalks on Hurley avenue. Arrests will be made if the practice is continued.

MRS. VASSILLIEU WANTS HER FREEDOM

Greek Husband Threatened to Kill Her Unless She Married Him and Pursued Her With Threats.

Because she was married before she had reached the age of consent, Margaret Vassillieu is suing Peter Vassillieu for an annulment of her marriage to him and a hearing was had in the case before Judge Hassbrouck at supreme court chambers this morning.

The Vassillieus were married at the English Lutheran Church in this city on August 15, 1900, by the Rev. William F. Bacher. Before her marriage, Mrs. Vassillieu was Miss Margaret Benn. She was born in West Camp, and resided here with her mother.

Before her marriage Mrs. Vassillieu was employed in the Powell, Smith & Company cigar factory, and she married Vassillieu, she testified, only after he had threatened to kill her and then to kill himself unless she consented to a marriage. Vassillieu, with two cousins, at that time conducted a fruit store on lower Broadway, Vassillieu being a Greek. The threat to kill her was made at the cigar factory, which Vassillieu visited while Miss Benn was at work. That night he came to her house, but she threw him out.

"Were you able to do it alone?" she was asked.

"O, I handled him all right," she replied.

From the time of their marriage, she testified, her husband ill treated her, and in the following fall she left him and went to Cohoes. She returned in a few weeks to Kingston, and he induced her to live with him, but she remained only a few weeks when she again left and went to Mr. Marlon, where she stayed with her aunt until one day she received a telephone message from him in which he said that unless she returned at once he would throw all of her clothes and other belongings out of the window. She returned, but later left him again and went to New York. Altogether she left him four times, the return to him being due entirely to his threats of bodily harm unless she did return.

Since going to New York, she testified, she has been working in various cigar factories, but Vassillieu has attempted to have her discharged and has demanded at different times that she should return. On one occasion she said, it was necessary for her to call a policeman.

In 1900 her picture was printed in the New York World, with a statement that her husband feared that her love for dancing had led her away and that she had disappeared. Mrs. Vassillieu denied this statement, and said she never danced.

"If not, why not?" asked Judge Hassbrouck, but Mrs. Vassillieu only smiled instead of replying. Vassillieu now conducts a florist's shop in the Bronx.

D. H. Daley of Coxsack, counsel for Mrs. Vassillieu, called attention to the fact that Mrs. Vassillieu asked for no counsel fee or any allowance for expenses, although she would be put to extra expense should another hearing be had in the case. "No, indeed, judge," interrupted Mrs. Vassillieu. "I wouldn't accept anything from him. All I want is my freedom."

To questions by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly, who appeared for Vassillieu, Mrs. Vassillieu said she had no intention of remarrying and was not seeking to obtain an annulment of her marriage for that purpose.

The family Bible, which was introduced in evidence, showed a record of Mrs. Vassillieu's birth on March 10, 1883, so that she was 17 years old at the time of her marriage.

Actual statement: Loans increase $22,730,000; specie increase $848,000; legal tenders increase $2,631,000; net deposits increase $26,933,000; reserve decrease $1,977,550.

Two Divorce Cases.

In the case of Allen F. Jones against Louis W. Jones, Judge Hassbrouck this morning granted a final decree of divorce. The case was tried some time ago. Brinnier & Canfield appeared for the plaintiff.

In the case of Agnes E. France, an infant, by Augusta Koskile, her guardian ad litem, an action for a separation, an order was signed denying the motion recently made by the defendant to change the place of trial from Ulster county to New York county, and an order was also signed granting the plaintiff's motion for alimony and counsel fee. Brinnier & Canfield appeared for the plaintiff.

Epworth League Silver Jubilee.

Sunday evening at 7:30 will be Epworth League night at St. James's Church, the occasion being anniversary day and the silver jubilee. The pastor, the Rev. C. H. Cookman, will speak on "Our Guarantee, Guide and Gift." At this service will also occur the installation of the newly elected officers. There will be special music by the choir and violin solo by Curtis Shurtler. The members of the league will attend in a body. It is earnestly requested that members of the league meet promptly at 7:15 in the lecture room. All are invited to this anniversary service.

BLAZING OIL IN THE WALKILL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Middletown, N. Y., May 16.—After burning more than 24 hours the fire which started in the Unionville plant of the Standard Oil Company then spread to four tanks containing 120,000 barrels of oil, was gotten under control today. The loss is estimated at $390,000. Oil from the tanks escaped into the Walkill river and for miles the surface of the water was ablaze.

MELOSJOS OF MARLBOROUGH.

Prisoner Who Got the Worst of An Encounter.

Jose Melosjos, an Austrian 23 years old, was brought to the county jail on Friday evening to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of assault in the second degree, having been held by Justice Johnson of Marlborough. According to the story as told Jose, who had been stopping in Marlborough for several weeks, on Friday morning started in to break in the windows of a house owned by George LaDeur of that village. LaDeur heard of it and jumping in a surrey drove to the house. Jose saw him coming and ran into a strip of woods nearby and LaDeur, who carried a shot gun, followed. Jose turned and it is alleged pulled a knife when LaDeur struck him over the head with the stock of the gun, knocking him down. LaDeur then forced Jose into the wagon and took him back to the village and had him arraigned before the justice. Jose when brought to the jail was covered with blood from his nose, which was battered in where he had been struck with the gun stock.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

Kingston Council, No. 356, United Commercial Travelers, will meet in Pythian Hall this evening.

The Colonial Minstrels.

Additional talent is being added to the cast of the Colonial minstrels daily. Bert W. Lowe announces that he has secured Thomas Dolan of Dolan's minstrels as an end man, and has also been very fortunate in securing Fox and Lawrence the well known dancing team. This team has recently returned from New York city where they were the hit of every bill in which they appeared. Some very big surprises are in store for those who patronize the show and an entertainment of rare excellence is guaranteed. There will probably not be a case of the blues in Kingston for many days after the minstrels for fun is contagious and surely everyone in town will go to see the biggest show ever offered to the people of the city. The minstrels have been advertised as the only big show of the season and judging from the program this is correct. Don't forget that the big show will be given for the benefit of the Federation of Women's Clubs.

Silverstein Case Argued.

A hearing on the motion to vacate the writ of habeas corpus obtained by leader to superiors was argued before Judge Hand of the United States district court in New York city on Friday, and at the close of the argument the court reserved decision. Arthur E. Rose of the firm Rose & Brooks the attorneys for Miss Rose, who secured the body execution on which Silverstein was arrested, appeared in favor of the motion. The court decided that it would pass upon the question as to whether the United States district court had the power to discharge Silverstein from the custody of the sheriff of Ulster county. Awaiting the decision of the court Silverstein was allowed his freedom upon continuing his cash bond of $1,000.

Baseball at High Falls.

The fast High Falls baseball team will play a fast team from Eddyville at the former place Sunday afternoon, May 17, at 3 o'clock. Probably Delaney and Meyers will do the pitching for High Falls, with O'Neil behind the bat.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

Barney Oldfield, driving the famous 200 horsepower car in which he made his great record of 141 miles an hour at Dayton Beach, passed through Kingston at noon on Friday on his way to Catskill.

Automobilists should beware of the Catskill and Athens speed traps and motorcycle cops. A Catskill automobilist is held down to 15 miles an hour within the village limits and 8 miles an hour crossing the bridge. A number of Kingston folks were caught last Sunday. As the village limits extend away out in the country, drivers are likely to speed up before they are out of the village. One Kingston automobilist was chased half a mile beyond the village limits by a motorcycle cop and didn't know he had done anything wrong or was even being pursued until the cop fired two shots after him. The cop was real peevish and said he'd "burn holes in your shoes" next time.

Mrs. Francis J. Higgins is chairman of this prize committee. Other members of the Colonial Dames in Kingston are Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth and Miss Mary Haldane.

The Rev. Lemuel Davis of Stowe, Vermont, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fowler of Clifton avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler and their guest of honor were given a very pleasant surprise Friday evening by the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brown, Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Van Steenburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Blanshan, Miss Blanche Crowell, Miss Florence Craig, Miss Luan Van Steenburgh, Harold Blanshan, Edwin Blanshan and Raymond Day. Music and games were enjoyed and during the evening light refreshments were served. A very delightful evening was enjoyed by all.

The card party and social at Cook's Hall on Thursday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all attending. Cards were played and dainty prizes awarded a large percentage of the players. All the latest dance music was discoursed by an excellent Grafanola, the use of which was secured through the generosity of Mr. MacFadden of the L. B. Van Wagenen Company. The machine was ably operated by Mr. Ford, who amply demonstrated the ability of the Grafanola to supply dance music in the various modern dances. Many of the records were of high classical order and were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Dancing was indulged in until a late hour and refreshments served. The proceeds were for the Rev. D. P. Langan of Aiken, S. C.

Spark Set Roof on Fire.

A spark from the chimney setting the roof of the blacksmith shop of Abram Van Kleeck, 420 Washington avenue, on fire this morning, caused an alarm of fire to be rung in from box 95. Wiltwyck Hose Company, who was on the scene within a few minutes soon had a line of hose on the blaze and extinguished the fire. The damage to the roof was slight. The Central Hook and Ladder arrived a few minutes later.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York May 16.—The eyes of the entire golfing clan are focused today on the course at Sandwich, England, where the best golfers in the world are going through the final stunts preliminary to the international amateur tournament which opens here Monday.

America's chances for success this year, with 11 entries, is brighter than ever before, but few American enthusiasts despite the fact that the best amateurs in the country are battling for the stars and stripes, are predicting that the championship will be brought to these shores.

Not only must the Americans compete against the cream of the amateur link talent of the British Isles, but they must tackle the best little golfing persons that have been developed in France, Australia and Canada.

The major portion of America's hopes rest in Jerome D. Travers, the national amateur champion, and Francis Ouimet, the national open champion. Much more is expected from Travers than from Ouimet because Travers is a far steadier player than the 20 year old juvenile wonder, is a better all-around golfer, and has had considerably more experience.

Ouimet was unknown until he leaped into world wide fame last summer by taking the open championship at Brookline from a galaxy of stars including the two best players in England, Harry Vardon and Edward Dwyer.

To back up this pair Uncle Sammy has entered Fraser Hale of Chicago, Chick Evans, from the same place, Harold Weber, of Toledo, O., Fred Herreschoff and five others. If Travers or Ouimet should slip a cable and be eliminated from the combat during its early stages, there's still hope that one of this last named quartet might noze through a winner.

Not much is expected of America's five other entries—that is, not in the way of annexing the championship. But they are expected to lend aid by "killing off" some of the dangerous foreign contenders before the final round.

All in all, it's the finest little team that Uncle Sam ever collected to battle for his greater honor and glory, and with each man in fine shape today, with the possible exception of Herreschoff, the American contingent ought to put up a mighty battle.

Opposed to the Americans will be about 25 players from France, Australia and Canada, and possibly two or three from other countries, and a brigade of Englishmen.

Harold Hilton, the present English amateur champion, and one of the greatest golfers in the history of the game, will lead the onslaught of the British, backed up by Johnny Ball, a former champion, Rob Maxwell, E. A. Lassen, Bob Harris, H. G. Hutchison and others who are among the brightest stars in England's golfing firmament.

SCHERER SIGNED BY RED MONOGRAMS

"Eddie" Scherer, the clever pitcher of last year's Wilbur team, has signed up with the Red Monograms for this season. In Sunday's game at McVey's field, between the Monograms and the Alcos of Newburgh, Scherer and Cragin will be the battery for the home team. Moore, of Madalin, the deceptive twirler who pitched against and defeated the Monograms last Sunday, will also be secured by the Monograms. Manager Louis Brown is doing his utmost to make the Monograms the fastest team along the Hudson and at the same time give local fans creditable baseball exhibitions. Nolan, the trusty left fielder, has not been released, although he will probably give up ball playing in the near future for reasons of his own. He will be in his usual position tomorrow. Moore, who played at Walden last Saturday and in this city Sunday, struck out 34 men in both games. Scherer will without doubt be as effective as ever in Sunday's game. The Alcos are said to be one of the strongest semi-professional teams that ever came from Newburgh.

To take a picture of your voice it is only necessary to tie a sheet of thin, strong paper over the wide end of a tin trumpet. Hold it with the sheet of paper upward, take a thin pinch of fine sand and place it in the center of the paper, hold the trumpet vertically above your face and sing a note into the lower end. Do not blow, but sing the note. Lower the trumpet carefully and look at the sand. You will find that the vibrations of your voice have scattered the pinch of sand into a beautiful sound picture. Every note in the musical scale will produce a different picture, so you may produce a great variety of them. Some of these pictures look like pansies, roses and other flowers; some look like snakes and others like flying birds. In fact, there is no limit to the variation.

Where the Hudson Flows.

Not so very long ago, in a geologic sense, the Hudson river flowed through a deep canyon or gorge at New York City. Soundings show that this gorge extends through the harbor and far out to sea. It is evident that the land surface has been lowered in this region, allowing the ocean to creep in on the land, fill the old river channel and in places wholly submerge it. The submergence of the land was greater at one time than it is now. In excavations for some of the New York skyscrapers remains of oysters and other salt water animals have been found. As a rule, the only available knowledge in regard to the former submergence of an area is derived from the marine shells and other animals found in deposits laid down by the sea.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

New York May 16.—The eyes of the entire golfing clan are focused today on the course at Sandwich, England, where the best golfers in the world are going through the final stunts preliminary to the international amateur tournament which opens here Monday.

America's chances for success this year, with 11 entries, is brighter than ever before, but few American enthusiasts despite the fact that the best amateurs in the country are battling for the stars and stripes, are predicting that the championship will be brought to these shores.

Not only must the Americans compete against the cream of the amateur link talent of the British Isles, but they must tackle the best little golfing persons that have been developed in France, Australia and Canada.

The major portion of America's hopes rest in Jerome D. Travers, the national amateur champion, and Francis Ouimet, the national open champion. Much more is expected from Travers than from Ouimet because Travers is a far steadier player than the 20 year old juvenile wonder, is a better all-around golfer, and has had considerably more experience.

Ouimet was unknown until he leaped into world wide fame last summer by taking the open championship at Brookline from a galaxy of stars including the two best players in England, Harry Vardon and Edward Day.

To back up this pair Uncle Sam has entered Fraser Hale of Chicago, Chick Evans, from the same place, Harold Weber, of Toledo, O., Fred Herreschoff and five others. If Travers or Ouimet should slip a cable and be eliminated from the combat during its early stages, there's still hope that one of this last named quartet might nose through a winner.

Not much is expected of America's five other entries—that is, not in the way of annexing the championship. But they are expected to lend aid by "killing off" some of the dangerous foreign contenders before the final round.

All in all, it's the finest little team that Uncle Sam ever collected to battle for his greater honor and glory, and with each man in fine shape today, with the possible exception of Herreschoff, the American contingent ought to put up a mighty battle.

Opposed to the Americans will be about 25 players from France, Australia and Canada, and possibly two or three from other countries, and a brigade of Englishmen.

Harold Hilton, the present English amateur champion, and one of the greatest golfers in the history of the game, will lead the onslaught of the British, backed up by Johnny Ball, a former champion, Rob Maxwell, E. A. Lassen, Rob Harris, H. G. Hutchison and others who are among the brightest stars in England's golfing firmament.

Moore, of Madalin, the deceptive twirler who pitched against and defeated the Monograms last Sunday, will also be secured by the Monograms. Manager Louis Brown is doing his utmost to make the Monograms the fastest team along the Hudson and at the same time give local fans creditable baseball exhibitions. Nolan, the trusty left fielder, has not been released, although he will probably give up ball playing in the near future for reasons of his own. He will be in his usual position tomorrow. Moore, who played at Walden last Saturday and in this city Sunday, struck out 34 men in both games. Scherer will without doubt be as effective as ever in Sunday's game. The Alcos are said to be one of the strongest semi-professional teams that ever came from Newburgh.

Hot Liners.

A book of baseball dope beneath the bough,
To show the outcome of this big row;
What's that you say, you think it can't be done?
Old Hughie Fullerton will show me how.

The fans certainly made it warm for Empire Cahill during the Detroit-Yankees' game in New York yesterday.

The Pirates are proving pie-rates for the Giants.

Now that the wireless telephone system between New York and Philadelphia is in working order, Gotham fans will be able to lean back in their chairs at home next fall and listen to the merry crack of Baker's bat.

Barnum & Bailey's circus was supposed to have left Brooklyn several weeks ago but the exhibition at the Brookfords' Park yesterday indicated that the report was greatly exaggerated. Score: Brooklyn, 12; St. Louis, 6.

The tail-end Boston Braves are more so as a result of yesterday's clash with the Cincinnati Reds.

Those Federal League magnates will stoop to anything. The Indianapolis club now goes and reduces the admission price below the big league schedule.

Litigation is vexation.
To mediate bad.
A baseball war makes people sore,
Invasion drives 'em mad.

Two members of the athletic team of the University of Chicago have been dropped for appearing in women's attire at a "Farce dance." What else could one expect from an athletic director named Stagg?

Oregon Primary Results.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Portland, Ore., May 16.—Complete returns today showed that United States Senator George E. Chamberlain, Democrat, was re-nominated at the state primaries yesterday. The Republicans nominated Robert A. Booth and the Progressives William Hanley.

English Service.

English service will be held at the Spring Street German Lutheran Church tomorrow evening at 7:30. The subject of the sermon will be, "The Significance of the Ascension of Christ." Special organ and choir music will be rendered.

To take a picture of your voice it is only necessary to tie a sheet of thin, strong paper over the wide end of a tin trumpet. Hold it with the sheet of paper upward, take a thin pinch of fine sand and place it in the center of the paper, hold the trumpet vertically above your face and sing a note into the lower end. Do not blow, but sing the note. Lower the trumpet carefully and look at the sand. You will find that the vibrations of your voice have scattered the pinch of sand into a beautiful sound picture. Every note in the musical scale will produce a different picture, so you may produce a great variety of them. Some of these pictures look like pansies, roses and other flowers; some look like snakes and others like flying birds. In fact, there is no limit to the variation.

Where the Hudson Flows.

Not so very long ago, in a geologic sense, the Hudson river flowed through a deep canyon or gorge at New York city. Soundings show that this gorge extends through the harbor and far out to sea. It is evident that the land surface has been lowered in this region, allowing the ocean to creep in on the land, fill the old river channel and in places wholly submerge it. The submergence of the land was greater at one time than it is now. In excavations for remains of the New York skyscrapers some of oysters and other salt water animals have been found. As a rule, the only available knowledge in regard to the former submergence of an area is derived from the marine shells and other animals found in deposits laid down by the sea.

The Leading Piano Store

Different kinds of conscientiousness are found in different piano stores, and you can invariably judge the different degrees of conscientiousness by different degrees of prosperity. We are the most prosperous and widely known piano dealers in the Hudson River Valley, and we charge nothing for valuable, conscientious piano advice.

Experience teaches us that most people are better able to buy pianos than they imagine. The monthly instalments, which soon pay for a good piano, will go for things which only afford temporary pleasure if a contract is not signed with a reliable, trustworthy house like ours.
